Curious Paradox.
It is a curious paradox that the man with the strongest will is the man who yields the most quickly to opposition. He saves all his strength to throw it into the line of least resistance. He is a good general and does not waste himself battering away at an impregnable position, but makes a flank movement at once.

Your strength lies in cooperation with them. Study men; leadership consists in knowing how to run with them. Public opinion is like an ocean liner; you cannot back it in a minute; you cannot guide it when it is going slow, and it can only be controlled by one who is riding on it.

PIMPLES
"I tried all kinds of blood remedies which failed to do me any good, but I have found the right thing at last. My face was full of pimples and black heads.
After taking Cascares they all left. I am have a chance to recommend Cascares."

The Cough of Consumption Your doctor will tell you that fresh air and good food are the real cures for consumption.
But often the cough is very hard. Hence, we suggest that you ask your doctor about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It controls the tickling, quiets the cough.

Ayer's
One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime will cause an increased flow of bile, and produce a gentle laxative effect the day following.
Formula on each box. Show it to your doctor. He will understand at a glance.
Dose, one pill at bedtime.

BEAD PRICE, BAD WORK.
Craftsmanship used to be the keynote of labor. The aim was to produce an excellent thing, to sell at a good price. The modern business man tries to produce quickly a rotten and fantastic article, so as to be able to sell at a bad price in enormous quantities. So far is this paradox true that a real economist nearly always buys the most expensive things, and the cheapjack is as often as not a millionaire.—R. R. Buckley, in London T. P.'s Weekly.

Under Colored Glass.
A Swiss professor of agriculture has been experimenting with cultivation under colored glass, and finds, according to the Review Scientific, that ordinary transparent glass gives the best results. Orange glass forces the plants, but hinders the fruit; violet glass increases the quantity of fruit, but lowers the quality; red, blue and green glass are positively injurious.

STILL HE MISSED SOMETHING

Suburban Amateur Gardener Who Had Improved Small Estate Is Given Severe Jolt.

He was a suburban amateur gardener, whose mission in life was to bore all his friends by asking them down for week-ends, and showing them round his three-foot-by-two estate. Just now he was boring Jackson, from the office.
He showed him his four rose trees; he showed him his pocket shrubbery; he showed him his half-inch fountain jet, his little basin and pair of goldfish; he showed him his summer house, which would almost admit two persons at one and the same time.

"Never know what you can do with a bit of ground till you try!" cackled the host, rubbing his hands gleefully.
"Quite so—quite so!" returned Jackson, absently. "But I think you might improve it."

"How?" questioned the owner, between the gratification and wounded pride.
"Well," replied Jackson, "why don't you take a strip off the flower bed—say, four inches wide—turf it over, and convert it into golf links?"

Giving Away a Trade Secret.
"I want you to notice that man over there."

"What's peculiar about him?"
"He's well off and he got his start as a window dresser."

"A what?"
"Don't you understand? He fixed up displays in the front windows of stores so as to attract a crowd. I've seen people almost fighting for a chance to look at them."

"That takes skill."
"Skill nothing! All he did was to put pictures of prize fighters in ring costume here and there among the exhibits."

Minus the Price.
"Do you think there is any chance of my poem appearing in your magazine?" asked the bard. "I'm without so much as a quarter in money."

"Before you told me your financial situation I thought there might be some chance of your poem appearing in our magazine," answered the hard-hearted editor, "but now I see no hope.
Our advertising rates are $5 an inch."

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism
The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's."
