It isn't as though the experience came upon them mawares. They have any official delegates from the apple-growers' association. For this reason, the committee had reached the conclusion that it would be better to have another meeting at when the

"We have made good progress, said Mr. Otis. "We are all agreed Any woman who would like that the central selling agency is the one thing which will keep the inthat we are approaching a condition where it will require careful nursing of our product to secure for us a legitimate profit. Apple-growers have plenty of ideas, and they are no different from any other body of men. But to get down to business t requires a small and compact body ho represent something else pesides their own orchards. We must have a delegate body of men. That is why we adjourned to Walla Walla."

The convention was divided in its views, though there was no dispute views, though there was no dispute as to the value of a well-organized selling agency. The difference came about in the effort to establish a standard of values of apples from dif-erent district.

If all were members of the same selling agency, the question naturally would arise how this difference would be adjusted. Then the grades of apples, their nomenclature, their exact determination and other minutiae become involved in the arrangement found in a fly stomach six days after of details. It was after the committee had discussed these conditions germs were in their "specks" for two that it agreed upon calling another meeting of delegates with power to

Before the adoption of the report, E. H. Shepard, of Hood River, editor of Better Fruit, said that he was not opposed to the organization of a selling agency, but he could not see a way to perfect such an organization at the present time, and that he had heard of no plan which would solve the problem. He sitll held to these views, but desired to have it understood that he favored unions and association work, he said.

Miles Cannon of Weiser, Idaho, said that in his opinion the problem of creating a selling agency would be solved at Walla Walla and he was decidedly in favor of the resolutions

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflam-mation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.
