NO. 32 OF VOL. 3

ESTACADA, OREGON, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1911.

$1 A YEAR

LOCAL NEWS AND PERSONAL MENTION

Dr. Lowe will visit.

W. A. Jorg has been having a spell of lumbago.

Fat cattle wanted; the fatter the better.—See Penland & Jorg.

Mayor Reed keeps on playing after the other "fats" stop to convince them he has plenty of wind.

W. D. Hayes of the Garfield Lumber Co. was an Estacada visitor on Saturday.

Dr. Lowe has all that is new and up-to-date in spectacleware.

Frank Harkenrider says he exercises every day that's why he can stand playing basketball so well.

A great many Estacada people went to Portland on Wednesday to see ex-President Roosevelt.

You and your children are safe if you wear glasses fitted by Dr. Lowe. Eye safe and price safe. Consult him.

Lame shoulder is nearly always due to rheumatism of the muscles, and quickly yields to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all good dealers.

If you see Cashier Belids limp these days it is not because a stack of coin fell on him. He simply says, "I was playing basketball."

If you hear Sparks wheeze and gasp for breath, do not fear that he will have a spell of asthma. He is just playing basketball.

Jerome Shultz of Garfield has returned from the East where he was recently called on account of the death of his father.

Mr. J. M. Moore, of Portland, formerly of the Morrow sawmill, was in Estacada on Saturday and paid the Progress office a short call.

Have you seen "Doc" Adix and Ed. Saling reach for the ball? They don't have to jump like the others, I suppose it is because they are built that way.

The Miller Lumber Co. have made a contract with Edgar Heiple for his timber delivered at their mill. He will commence at once with the work.

The Garfield Lumber Co. have made a new road into their mill that makes the haul this way from the mill about three-fourths of a mile shorter. The road starts from the Garfield road just north of J. J. Davis. The timber company has a dry-kiln now and has piled quite a lot of good first class lumber.

Have Dr. Lowe relieve your head and eye ache with a pair of his superior glasses. They cost no more than others and you have the benefit of his skill and more than 20 years experience. He does not go from house to house. Consult him about your eyes and glasses at Dr. Adix office. Dozens of references.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all good dealers.

Mrs. H. E. Bowen, who lives just east of Fenton's mill, was brought to Estacada and sent on to the Good Samaritan Hospital on Monday. She was suffering intensely from an obstruction of the bowel and seemed to be in great pain. It was necessary to haul her in a wagon to Estacada, a distance of more than twelve miles.

Why be bothered with 2 pairs of glasses? Call at Dr. Adix office Tuesday April 11 and have Dr. Lowe show you the new glasses with which you can see all distances. One solid piece of glass, no lines or seams in the lens to collect dirt and strain the eye, no cement to come apart. Free demonstrations. Remember the day and date.

Young Man Drowns in Clackamas

Party Of Three Attempt To Cross River In Small Car; Cable Sags And Boys Fall Into River

Wilbur Childers lost his life in the chilly waters of the Clackamas on last Monday evening about 7:30.

Wilbur Childers, Ray Marrs, and Jack Baker, all being employed on the drill crew at the upper power site of the P. R. L. & P. Co., after eating their supper started up the Clackamas. In about an hour they returned. They were on the south side of the river and were obliged to cross it to get back to their camp. At about two hundred yards above the camp a cable is stretched across the river and a small carrier is on it. This has been used to cross on, although a wire suspension bridge spans the river at the camp. A high bluff would have to be climbed by the three men before they could reach the bridge. They all climbed onto the carrier and started to cross. When suspended some forty feet above the water a heavy rock which the shore line of the cable was attached to, rolled over and the carrier on which the men were riding descended into the river. It did not pull loose entirely from the shore but gave slack enough to allow the man to drop into the water.

It is thought that Childers, relying on his ability to swim, jumped from the carrier to the river, the other two stayed in and when they struck the water pulled themselves part way out by the cable, when Baker let go and swam out, Marrs climbed up the cliff edge by the aid of the cable. Childers could be seen by his companions as he was being carried down stream, all the time calling for help, which they were unable to give.

Information of the accident reached Estacada on Friday morning. Dragging the river for the recovery of the body was commenced early Friday morning by all the crew about the camp. Mr. Hulse in charge of the work made every effort possible to find the body but failed. An expert, a man who makes a business of recovering the body of persons drowned, of Portland, was brought out on Sunday and did all he could do in his effort to locate it but he was not successful. There is a rapids just below where the men were thrown in and just below this rapid the backwater from the Cazadero dam begins.

S. W. Childers, father of Wilbur, lived about a year in Springfield where he had a ranch. A couple of months ago he sold it and moved to St. Johns. At the time the accident happened Mr. Childers had gone to Hood River. He did not arrive in Cazadero until Sunday. A sister of the young man also came with her father. The two remained at the upper dam until Monday evening when they returned to their home. There seemed to be nothing more that they could do but simply wait until the river gave up its dead.

All day Monday Mr. Hulse and his men were dragging for the body but up to the present time it has not been found.

"Fats" and "Leans" Each Expect To Win

Next Saturday Nights Games Promise To Be Attendance-Record Breaker

Great preparation for the big basketball game is being made by the "fats" and "leans." You can see them most every evening making a bee-line for the pavilion, one night "fats" next night "leans," each afraid the other will get out their good plays and so they are not giving all the stunts they are capable of doing. Several small bets of cigars, etc., are being wagered on the game. Saturday evening April 8th will tell the tale of victory. Don't fail to see the game. The proceeds go to the Commercial Club.

City Sells Street And Sewer Bonds

Portland Insurance Company Buys City's Bonds; Work To Start Soon

The City Council has at last been able to sell the $5,000 street and sewer bonds issued last Summer. The Pacific States Fire Insurance Co. of Portland are the purchasers. The Council was anxious to permanently improve Main St. and build a system of sewers and the bonds were issued to pay for the improvement. The bonds were awarded to a Chicago firm in bids offered at the time. The bond market becoming stringent and the firm who had been awarded them
