Lightning Seemingly at Play. most fearful and wonderful was illustrated in the mouth of June, 1873, when, according to Flammarion, the electric current entered a butcher's shop and followed the iron bars from which the quarters of meat were hung until it reached a hook on which the skinned carcass of a whole ox was suspended. This was galvanized, and for several seconds it was frightfully contorted as if in convulsions.

A Many-Horned Cow.

A cow with 17 horns is the interesting monstrosity reported by a traveler from the south. The horns, we are told, protrude from the cow's back, one resting on a joint in the spinal column. The farmer who owns the horned wonder is proud of her. She is proud of her gift, and out of thankfulness for her distinction pro-duces more milk than any other cow up and said: "Mamma, here's a lot of on the farm.-Detroit Free Press.

III-Fitting Shoes to Blame. The cause of many broken insteps comes from imperfectly fitted shoes. When fitting, if there is too much space left in the toe of the shoe there no doubt about it that as soon as I will strive to raise my own body the shoe is worn for a short time the and soul daily into higher powers of heel will begin to chafe and cause the wearer much annoyance that could be well dispensed with, if the clerk is given enough time to fit the foot right. The ball of the foot should be at the curve of the sole.

Origin of Common Names. Kings in the earliest days were merely "fathers of families," and the word is derived from the same source as "kin." Queen at first meant "wife "mother." An earl was an "elder" in the primitive society, while "czar" and "kaiser" are both derived from 'Caesar."
