Beginning this issue, The Progress passes under the management of the undersigned. A stranger among you, yet not new to the state, the writer believes that the section of Clackamas County, surrounding Estacada, is one of the most favored of any in Oregon. It is therefore a pleasure to assist in any way possible to a publicist in the development of the town and country. If earnest endeavor and a desire to do justice to its patrons may be judged a merit, it is the belief of the undersigned that the readers of The Progress will not be disappointed.

Mr. E. S. Womer, who retires from the management, has published a good newspaper. Liberal support has made it possible and he has told you that he is grateful. It is the expectation of the writer that The Progress will continue to merit your approval and as its editor becomes better acquainted with the field, the paper will be improved, both in the scope of its news service and in its equipment. Plans are making along both lines and hard work will be necessary to realize expectations. In this the undersigned solicits your co-operation and wants to meet all readers of The Progress personally, as well as those who are not at present subscribers.

When in Estacada come right into the office and shake hands. The Progress' readers and the editor ought to do good team work. It's what counts.

G. E. LAFOLLETTE.

With an improved telephone service between here and Portland, a sewer system for the city, a big new hotel in the park, and several new roads and other improvements in prospect, Estacada starts off this spring with characteristic energy.

The Taft campaign committee of which Ben Selling is chairman has begun active work and is now sending inquiries to the press throughout the state relative to ascertaining how many may be depended upon to support the president at the April primaries. A lively campaign is promised.

Equal suffragists throughout the country are much gratified at the position former president Theodore Roosevelt takes in a recent article in the Outlook, wherein he placed himself on record as generally favoring the right of women to vote, but says the ballot should be secondary to the home. He thinks the movement eventually will succeed and justify itself, but regards it as being of less consequence that many other movements for betterment of conditions which affect both men and women.

With a recklessness which finds excuse by no foundation of fact, the Central Labor Council of Portland this week has sent out to the governors of every state in the union and to most of the leading newspapers, a circular letter, warning laboring men to keep away from Oregon. If the letter contained only a warning to labor there might be some excuse for sending it out, coming, as it does, on the occasion of a temporary over-supply at Portland. But the circular goes farther and grossly misrepresents the state and attacks its citizens morally and in a general sense. Most of its allegations are absolutely untrue and the circular, taken in its entirety, is contradictory. Already the extra supply of labor is being taken and as spring opens it will entirely disappear. As to the statements of the Council that "Oregon is a wilderness" and that crime is "rampant throughout the state," anyone residing in Oregon knows how absurd they are. Yet there is danger that those unacquainted with conditions may give credence to the Council and in that respect the attack may offset much honest advertising of this wonderful state and its resources.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

I can fix anything that is wrong with your watch.—LaHatt.

R. W. Bartlett, who was in Oregon City on legal business, returned Tuesday.

Floyd Spurlin, a merchant of Springwater, was in the city early this week. The farmers in his section of the country are engaged in seeding, having taken advantage of the fine weather of the past week.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will give a chicken supper from 5 to 8 o'clock, next Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows hall. A fine supper will be served and it costs only 25 cents a plate. Everybody invited.

F. E. Sealey, a job printer of Portland with twenty-five years experience, has taken a position with the Progress and will have charge of the mechanical department. Mr. Sealey will shortly move his family to Estacada.

Jacobs Gerber, who came in from his farm near Viola, reports that the ground is already in good condition for seeding and that a large acreage will be planted this year. In his thirty eight years' residence in Oregon, Mr. Gerber says that this winter is one of the mildest in his recollection.

Petitions for the construction of a bridge at Barton, concerning which a mass meeting was held about two weeks ago, are being circulated in Logan and are being quite generally signed. There is some opposition, it is understood, to the building of a bridge to cost $40,000, but a structure to cost less will likely be favored.

Basketball enthusiasts will have an opportunity tomorrow evening to enjoy their favorite sport, when the boys' and girls' teams of the Estacada and Park Place high schools will meet at the Estacada Pavilion, the first game starting at 8 o'clock. All the teams have been practicing diligently and closely contested games are anticipated.

It was learned today that County Commissioner Mattoon has notified those who have the new road from Estacada to George in charge, that warranty deeds must be secured from those through whose property the road passes, before the court can pass on the matter. Only quit claim deeds were secured, it is understood. It is expected, however, that the change can be made before the board adjourns.

The Progress is in receipt of a copy of a bill recently introduced by Congressman Hawley, which is planned to accelerate the action of the government in issuing patents to bona-fide settlers. It gives the entryman opportunity to appeal to Federal courts providing the general land office with holds patents. The reports of government agents are to be open to the entryman for immediate investigation.

County Commissioner William Mattoon, left yesterday for Oregon City, where the county court will be in session the next three days. The board will have a number of important matters under consideration, including road improvement, road vacations and an application for a saloon license at Oak Grove. The latter is being fought by a strong element. The applicant has not yet deposited the $400 for the license, so it is likely the board will take no action regarding the matter.

When the grand jury convened yesterday at Oregon City, it was stated that the body proposes to investigate the case of Nathan B. Harvey, who was arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of the Hill family of Ardenwald and who was afterward released. Justice Jackson deciding there was no evidence to warrant holding Harvey. The jury will receive testimony in addition to that submitted to Justice Jackson and will thoroughly probe the case.

Reports from all over the state indicate that Governor West's proclamation setting aside this week especially for the consideration of the subject of good roads is being acted upon with great enthusiasm. Under the auspices of the Oregon Association for Highway Improvement, copies of the eight bills that have been prepared were sent to the commercial clubs and to the newspapers. The secretary of the Oregon Development League sent out a message that as this question was not a political issue, he urged that special meetings of the commercial bodies affiliated with the League be held to discuss good roads and to make their recommendations.

Look at the Beef

Mayor J. W. Reed went to Portland Tuesday.

E. P. Epperson of Garfield was in town Tuesday on business.

W. H. Kandle, a well known ranchman of Springwater, was here last week.

If you have a furnished house or rooms, for rent, call at the Progress office at once.

Mrs. L. M. Morrow who has been quite ill of the grip, is reported to be improving.

Phil Wagner of Garfield was in the city, enroute home from attending a sale at Morrow.

R. E. Cushman, of Kingston, Mass., and C. H. Hepler, of Akron, O., were registered at The Estacada.

LaHatt sells spectacles and eye glasses.

Attorney C. W. Devore was in Oregon City last week on business before the probate court. He returned Sunday.

Mrs. A. K. Morton and Mrs. Charles Frazier visited with friends at Vancouver over Sunday, returning in the evening.

J. M. Hayden, of Viola, has recovered from his recent indisposition and was visiting his many friends in Estacada last Saturday.

The force of men employed at Dubois saw mill have been engaged this week in sawing fire wood. A considerable amount of timber is being worked up.

The Garfield Dorcas Society will hold their regular business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. F. L. Bundy Feb. 15.

—Mrs. F. L. Bundy, Secretary.

The city council of Seattle, within a few days are scheduled to visit Estacada, according to a dispatch. The officials will inspect the dam at River Mill.

The Estacada Furniture company yesterday began moving its stock to the Odd Fellows building and will be permanently established within a few days. The company will have an announcement of interest to make in its ad next week.

A Parent-Teacher's meeting will be held at Meinig hall, Sandy, Saturday February 17, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. All who are interested in education are urged to attend. Much interest is being manifested in the meeting.

Before a packed house at Heylman's theatre Tuesday evening L. E. Capps gave a talk on Central Oregon, showing the resources of that recently opened region. The lecture was illustrated by stereoptican and aroused much interest. Mr. Capps predicted that 125,000 new settlers would enter the "inland empire" this year.

A. H. Miller and Fred Lins, of George, were in the city on business in connection with the new county road which is to be put through across Eagle Creek, saving more than two miles travel to the farmers in that section of the country. They report that the road at present used, is in unsatisfactory condition.

Twenty-five of the friends and classmates of Milton Evans last evening gave him a surprise party at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. H. Evans. The company reached the Evans home about 8 o'clock. The surprise was genuine and complete, but when the young man had regained his composure, he entered heartily into the spirit of the affair. The evening was spent in games and a lunch concluded the affair.

As indicative of interest in the coming primaries the voters of this section of Clackamas county are registering quite promptly, despite the fact that the books do not close until April. There are about 300 voters in Estacada precinct and of this number the registrars report that practically half have registered. In Springwater and Eagle Creek precincts similar activity is reported. The voters in Viola and George precincts, it is understood, may be required to register either at Estacada or Oregon City, because of the lack of notaries.

John Bernart a pioneer of Clackamas county, well known to old residents in the vicinity of Estacada, met a tragic death at Oregon City last week, when his gasoline launch was swept over the falls, owing to the engine of the craft going "dead." He made a gallant fight for life, striving desperately with an oar, to avert the catastrophe. Several spectators, who were near, were unable to render assistance. The launch was found below the falls, practically a wreck. Bernart's body was not discovered by the searching party. He had a wife and eight children.

Up came a warm furry ball from a hole,
From under an old rotting log or a pole,
The sun had arisen and over the plain,
Sends it's bright rays and he pops in again.
"I'm hungry and sick of that six month's stay
I'll try it again on the first cloudy day."

Sarvers Arrested After A Series of Mixups.
Following a series of mixups, B. O. and Millard Sarver, were arrested by Marshal Ames last evening and this morning were arraigned before Police Judge Devore on a charge of intoxication. The court fined the defendants $20 each, this being their second offense.

According to witnesses, the men were drinking and Millard threw B. O. Sarver to the floor in a saloon and began choking him. Yanke, the proprietor of the saloon, interfered and ejected Millard. Marshal Ames was summoned and arrested Millard, whom he lodged in jail. B. O. Sarver, it is alleged, resisted arrest and the marshal, after subduing him, jailed him. They were under guard all night at the city hall.
