If everybody in this community would bank their money right here at home, instead of hoarding, or sending it away, it would help everybody in this community. It is merely SELF PROTECTION and SELF DEVELOPMENT for us to keep our money right here and help ourselves.

We will gladly give counsel to anyone wanting our advice—especially if we can steer you away from investments which might cause you loss.

A Critical Inspection of your eyes may show the cause of that contrary and persistent headache, those nerve trying aches which drugs fail to relieve more than temporarily; may reveal some hidden defect that is sapping your nervous vitality, thus effecting organs remote from your eyes; might disclose the obscure cause of nervous disorders, the relief of which would afford you untold joy. There may be others who give the same thorough scientific examination as we, but many of our patients who have previously "been the rounds" say they haven't found them.

ENTHUSE OVER DIVISION

Big Crowd Hears Speakers Argue for New County

TO CONTINUE THE CAMPAIGN

Committee Arranging for Delegations From Various Precincts—Railroad Men Address the Meeting.

Evincing much enthusiasm over the proposed division of Clackamas county, a crowd which filled Boner's theatre, last Friday evening, listened to a discussion of the subject from the standpoint of farmers, business men and railroad representatives.

At the conclusion the committee elected at a previous meeting was authorized to send delegations and speakers to other precincts in East Clackamas and to report at a later meeting. Three representatives of the P. R. L. and P. Co. were present: W. T. Buchanan, publicity manager; Ed Werlein and R. M. Townsend. Mr. Buchanan made the principal address, saying the corporation could not morally take part in a division contest. As an individual and in no way voicing the sentiment of his company, he believed the movement would have a beneficial effect because the people of East Clackamas would receive the attention they deserve. He touched upon taxation saying the company paid $102,000 of the $500,000 tax of Clackamas county and added that it paid more taxes in proportion to its gross earnings than any other corporation on the coast. It is assessed on its full capitalization, $25,000,000.

Bartlett Presents Figures.

E. W. Bartlett presented, in a good speech, data turned over to him by Mayor Reed of the committee. The speaker showed that the assessed valuation of the territory in the proposed new county, is $5,015,773 and about $500,000 of doubtful valuation. The amount of county taxes paid is $46,000. He showed that the salary list of Clackamas county officers is about $20,000. Under the proposed new county it would cost the taxpayers only $6,660. All money paid in from the new county on present county buildings would be refunded. The proposed county has about 21 townships, 13 in the forest reserve the latter having 299,520 acres. When any part of the reserve is sold the government pays 25 per cent to the county.

Mr. Bartlett concluded by reading a letter sent to L. E. Belfils regarding the division of Wasco county. Hood River which was a part of Wasco was shown to have conducted its business at a great saving to the taxpayers since the division.

Get Seat of Government.

Edward Werlein of the P. R. L. & P. Co., in a talk which caught the crowd, declared that "pull is everything" and that "Estacada being so far from the seat of government probably does not get its deserts."

"It is timely for you to see if you can keep house; to see if you can get to the seat of government," he added. Henry Epperson of Garfield wanted to know "why we shouldn't have a county in Eastern Clackamas where conditions are different" and answered "that we should."

H. F. Gibson, a business man of Barton, said, at first he was inclined to doubt the wisdom of division.

"But after reading your excellent paper here and consulting with my neighbors, we decided to be for division," he said. "You need not fear a contest from Barton or Boring for the county seat. Estacada is the logical point. I'll work for it."

R. M. Townsend of the P. R. L. & P., R. M. Standish and Mayor Reed spoke briefly. The meeting gave a vote of thanks to the railroad men for attending. W. A. Heylman was chairman of the meeting and G. E. La Follette secretary.

WASHED ESTACADA'S FACE

Patriotic Citizens Give Municipality a Scrubbing—More Than 100 Persons Toil in the Streets.

"The can looms on the ash heap
And the germ begins to work;
The passing of the winter,
Leaves the back yard filled with muck.
So get out the rake and shovel,
The barrow and the hoe
And remove the ancient relics,
It is time for them to go."

Chanting this "Spring Song," more than 100 men from every station in life, turned to last Friday and gave Estacada a cleaning that it hasn't experienced since the Clackamas was a brook. To make a thorough job of it they began by giving "Swamper" Ole Amos, a bath, shave, haircut, shine and shampoo. Amos survived. Everybody took a hand in the work and the streets and alleys, and the backyards were thoroughly raked and scraped. Ten or fifteen teams contributed by patriotic citizens were kept busy from morning until evening hauling away the debris. From every corner in town smoke rose from rubbish heaps tended by volunteers. The day was a typical Oregon day, a day when one felt the joy of living. Bright sunshine poured down on the toiling backs of the populace and a faint mountain breeze barely stirred the dust raised by the street sweepers.

Side by side, ministers and laymen, bankers and depositors, employers and employes wielded the shovel and rake or lugged tin cans and broken boards and took keen delight in doing it.

At noon Professor James dismissed school and the pupils after putting the grounds and adjacent streets in fine condition, helped the workers take care of the residence sections. The downtown district was first cleaned. When night came, the rising moon looked down on a clean city. It smelled clean, it looked clean, it was clean.

SEARCH FOR HIDDEN TREASURE

About $6,000 in Gold is Buried Somewhere on the Ranch of Peter Claussen Near George.

Concealed somewhere about the ranch of Peter Claussen who died in Estacada last fall, is a treasure of $6,000. Claussen who was about 80 years old at his death, was delirious a good deal of the time and he told conflicting stories as to what he had done with his money. He was a hermit and reticent. He did tell that he had about $200 hid in the house and Administrator William Mattoon found that in a tin can, tucked away in an old cupboard.

The $6,000 was withdrawn from a Portland bank which shortly afterwards failed in 1895. Subsequently, Claussen did not deal with banks. A neighbor knew of the money being withdrawn but Claussen did not reveal its hiding place. Search has so far failed to find it.

The deceased came from New Zealand about 40 years ago. He has relatives there. His estate, aside from the hidden treasure, is worth about $3,000.

Rebekahs Exemplify Work at District Convention

In a special car, chartered for the occasion, about 40 members of the Estacada Rebekahs left last night for the district convention at Oregon City, where the local drill team exemplified the floor work. Accompanying the party were three officers of the convention—Mrs. W. M. Yonce, conductor; Mrs. E. M. Miller, secretary and Mrs. E. E. Saling, vice-chairman.

The drill team which put on the work was composed of, Mesdames Yonce, Reed, Currin, E. Saling, Smith, Belfils, Drill, Eshleman, Posson, Allen, Adix, Lindsey and Heinbothem and the Misses Morrow, Congdon and Trowbridge.

BIG CROWD AT GARFIELD HALL

Hears Governor on Prison Policy and a Boost for County Division—Alderman Also Talks.

Notwithstanding a mixup in the hour of speaking, a big crowd saw and heard Governor West at Garfield Grange, last Saturday. The governor was advertised to speak at 2 o'clock, but had to appear at 11 o'clock. In charge of Dr. Adix, E. W. Bartlett, William Dale and Robert Duncan, a local committee, the governor arrived at Garfield about 10 o'clock in Dr. Adix's automobile. He put in an hour looking over the fine fruit ranches. Incidentally the governor was stakeholder in a two-bit bet as to whether Phil Standish could run down a rooster in a given time. Standish won.

The subject of chickens being up, the governor offered to trade a fine game cock to Dr. Adix for one of the latter's Airedale terriers and the doctor agreed.

Too Far From the Pull.

At 11 o'clock a big crowd faced the governor at the hall. He discussed his prison policy and told how he favored state road improvement. Discussing taxation and referring to the movement for a division of Clackamas county, the governor said pointedly that the Estacada country was too far from the seat of government to get its rights.

While in Estacada Governor West visited the Progress office where he met a goodly number of the citizens. He is a good mixer and a jovial story teller.

In the afternoon State Superintendent of Schools Alderman talked to the grange on the subject of schools. His address was pronounced excellent.
