The man who can pick the next president of the United States right now, can win a fortune.

An exchange remarks that it all the Titanic survivors who claim they left the wreck on the last life boat, were bunched, they would fill ten life boats.

Lents is the latest town to fall into line with Estacada on an annual cleanup day. Oregon City saw the light some time ago and scrubbed; Lents is to follow suit.

Now, that Congressman Lafferty has been re-nominated at the recent primary, quite a goodly number of the people living in his district are figuring how they can trim him at the polls.

One of the most amusing features of the campaign, thus far, is the neat way President Taft shoved T. R. into the Ananias club, the institution which "Dear Theodore" founded during his administration.

Another new county project advocated here, has made an impression at Oregon City, where the county court is considering having the poor farm put to a vote. Now, if the county court will come out in favor of division, it will make a distinct hit.

Those mid-westerners are certainly catching it. No sooner had the snow drifts melted and the mercury climbed out of the cellar, than tornadoes began distributing the people and their property over the country and otherwise changing the map. And the wonder grows why the survivors stay with it, when they can come to as glorious a country as Oregon.

Things as They Are.

East Clackamas, having proved herself a worthy daughter in her mother's house, now justly desires to show that she would be an efficient mistress in her own.

It is not too late yet to sow purple and lavender sweet peas and asters. The Elks are coming.

What has become of the walking club the married girls were talking about? The hills call one these enchanting days. Lay down embroidery frames and fare forth. There are purple violets and yellow adders tongues, also a handful of camas bulbs will be an addition to the lettuce salad. Camas is wholesome and "filling" even if it hasn't much flavor.

City people affect to scorn the personals of a country paper, but when they visit in the country, they read twice, the little paragraph the paper gives them.

People to Vote on the Poor Farm Proposition

At a meeting of the county court, which began yesterday at Oregon City, the question of submitting the proposition of a poor farm, will likely be brought up. It is the understanding of Commissioner W. H. Matton, who is in attendance, that the court will order the question submitted giving the court authority to purchase property for the care of the county poor.

There has been some opposition to the matter, but there is a substantial majority in favor of it, the court believes. The subject has received impetus because of the advocacy of it by those favoring county division. If Cascade county is created, it is promised that a county farm will be furnished. At present, paupers are cared for at a big expense, through lack of facilities to care for them, except individually.

Social Functions.

Members of the local lodge of Odd Fellows were hosts last Friday evening at I. O. O. F. hall to the Rebekahs and families at their anniversary celebration. The evening began with an impromptu program, which included piano solos by Miss Rachael Reed and Miss Hattie Belfis and the ritual by the officers of the lodge, used at an anniversary celebration. Following this, refreshments including oyster soup, coffee and sandwiches were served by the men. Mayor J. W. Reed and L. E. Belfis, prepared the supper and between them they put up refreshments which would have done credit to a chef of a short order restaurant. Assisting them in serving were Ed Saling, B. R. Kimmel, Charles Hicinbothom and Edwin Bates, who whisked the treasurers and coffee cups about with much grace and eclat. A jolly social session followed.

In celebration of her birthday, Miss Gertrude Morrow, Sunday, gave a dinner at her home, Shafford avenue and Fifth street. In addition to members of her Sunday school class, W. Mrs. Stubbe Falls and Breaks Leg Near Ankle

Tripping over a board projecting above a sidewalk at her home on the Garfield road, Mrs. Mary Stubbe's foot caught and in falling her leg was broken above the ankle. She was alone at the time, but pluckily crawling on hands and knees to the telephone, she stood on one foot while she phoned for help.

Dr. Adix was summoned and reduced the fracture, which is quite severe, the small bones being broken and the large splintered. The leg was placed in a plaster cast and the patient is resting fairly well.
