To call at the Yellow Front Emporium and get a copy of a booklet entitled "Making the Farm Pay." We are not the authors--we know little about farming. The fellow who has expressed his opinion and given advice, may know what he writes about--yet he may not. You may judge after perusing it. The book is published by the American Fence makers and there is one thing to a dead moral certainty and that is the American Fence stands at the head of all Field fences. You know this assertion is true without our mentioning it. Come around and ask for the booklet, insist upon it, demand that it be given to you. It is yours for the asking.

Don't overlook our buggy proposition. Make your good wife happy, happier than she has been since she had the measles, by buying her a HENNY BUGGY.

We have other things besides fencing and buggies to sell. If you don't believe it just buckle on your armour and call and see us. Don't forget the booklet.

A base ball fan is a queer sort of an animal. He was loud in his praises of the Portland Beavers after their opening game with Los Angeles but now that they have lost several games, this wild eyed individual wants to can the entire team or dump them into the Columbia river. He is a victim of circumstances as he had anticipated a lung bursting season but circumstances changed his plans.

At any rate you should be thankful you do not live in California.

Paint pigments and linseed oil when applied to frame buildings beautify them and protect the lumber from the elements. It especially improves the appearance of store buildings when applied thereto. Try it.

P. S. This is not a paint ad but a hint.

Play Was a Success

The comedy-drama, "Thompkins' Hired Man" put on by members of the Garfield Grange at the Boner theatre last Saturday drew a packed house and was a success in every way. All who took part in the play did exceptionally well and a goodly sum made, which went to the Currenville band. The Currenville band liveded things up in our city by rendering several selections prior to the performance at the theater. It would be unfair to give any of the amateur thespians special mention as all of the characters were good and the play was greatly appreciated by all who attended.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT CLUB

A number of the ladies of this city met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Sparks for the purpose of discussing the possibility and advisability of organizing a club for improving the conditions of our city. About seventeen ladies were in attendance at this meeting and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Mrs. Helen McCurdy was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting and it was decided to call a meeting at the Hotel Estacada, Friday April 25 at 3 P. M. at which time a permanent organization will be made, known as the Civic Improvement Club. The ladies are to be congratulated for forming this society which will be of great benefit to the city. But the business men of the town should also organize and assist the ladies' club as much as possible and if all factional dissensions could be laid away in their grave where all such discords should be and everyone work for the betterment of conditions, much could be accomplished. Petit jealousies only mar and dwarf the intellect and tells the story of human weakness and creates an evil thinking mind. The ladies have taken the right step in the right direction to eliminate the factionalism which prevails.

RECOVERS STOLEN HORSE

Mace Warnick living south of this place in Springwater had a valuable horse taken from his barn sometime before noon last Thursday. The theft was not discovered until Mr. Warnick went to the barn to feed his horses at 12 o'clock. A new shoe had been but recently put on one of the stolen horse's hoofs and in this way it was an easy matter for Mr. Warnick to follow the course taken by the horse. Mr. Warnick and a neighbor immediately started on the trail of the thief and several miles south of the Warnick farm they met a young man riding the stolen animal. The thief had ridden the horse up a blind trail in the hills which came to an abrupt ending at the base of a hill and he was compelled to turn back. But for his ignorance of the roads in that locality he would have gotten considerable farther away if not entirely making good his get away. Mr. Warnick stood guard over his captive until Deputy Sheriff A. G. Ames of this place arrived and took him to this place and lodged him in jail. The thief who is nothing but a mere boy gave his name as Albert Maher and said until about a year ago when he went to Canada, he lived with his grandfather at Redland, Cal. It is the opinion of the authorities here that the young man's mind is unbalanced or else he is a clever actor. He was taken to Oregon City Friday by Sheriff Ames Mr. Warnick having been in the county seat and had the necessary paper made out for the detention of the young man until he would have a preliminary trial.

CO-OPERATIVE SUPPLY HOUSE V. S. H. F. & F. E. MELLIEU

We have another case in our Circuit court that would not be there if we had had a blue sky law in this state last year. The Co-Operative Supply house of Portland, Oregon, was incorporated in Salem on the 29th day of April 1912 with a capital stock of $3,000,000 one half of which was subscribed by three or four "bunco artists." They were incorporated for the sole purpose of fleecing the farmers of this state out of their hard earned cash and they succeeded in selling in the neighborhood of 17000 shares at $10 per share, 12000 of which were sold for cash and the balance was sold for notes and some farmers even gave mortgages on their homes for shares in the company. The concern worked a good deal on the same plan as the Columbia Orchards Co. which went bankrupt and left so many farmers in the lurch. They sold their stock to farmers principally, at par value of 110 per share and represented that on the first of December the shares would be worth $12.50 and they would advance to $15 on the first of January 1913. They also represented they could and would pay dividends on their stock by the first of May 1913 amounting to 12 1/2 or 15% as they said about Nov. 1st that their sales amounted to over $1000 per day. The agents of the Co. Op. supply house represented to the farmers that they owned the large four story concrete building at E 1st and Madison streets which they used as a warehouse and that they owned all of the goods, wares, merchandise and machinery contained in the building and that they owned the land on which the building stood as well as the vacant lots adjoining. On Feb. 20, 1913 the Co. Op. Supply house was declared insolvent and R. L. Sabin, secretary of the Merchants Protective association was appointed receiver. On March 8th a meeting of the stock holders was called and a great many "suckers" attended only to learn that they had been "bunked" some of them to the tune of $5000. The so called "suckers" then appointed a committee of three to investigate the books of the company and they learned that the Co. Op. never owned more than one half of the stock of goods on hand and had only one year's lease on the building and grounds. There was about 14 carloads of canned goods, unlabeled in the building which belonged to several of the leading wholesalers and packing houses and "loaned" to the Co. Op. for the purpose of inducing the farmers to bite. H. T. and F. E. Mellieu of Damascus, Ore., who run a small merchandise store at that place were induced by one G. F. Emery, one of the Co. Op. agents to turn over their stock of goods to the company and they received in return 276 shares of the capital stock of said company but they never gave possession of said goods as the company's agents agreed to sell 75 shares of Mellieu's stock and turn the money over to them, that they may pay up their creditors and clear the title to the goods but the company or its agents failed to sell the shares. R. L. Sabin has now taken possession of the goods as well as the building to which he has no claim by writ of replevin and the case will be threshed out in Judge Campbell's circuit court in Oregon City on Friday, May 2, 1913. The promoters of the company were named Moselle, Pres.; H. Irby Knox, Vice Pres. and Allen, Sec. and Treas. These three men have skipped the country and left in their places are G. J. Hodder, Pres. and P. J. Darsche, Sec. and Treas.

We are pleased to note that some of the property owners on the business streets have seen fit to repair the sidewalk in front of their buildings. We hope that several more will follow suit.
