SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are eartbroken over the loss of their much prized phonograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is an at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the phonograph. She suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the phonograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The Cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, glee club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to discredit. Speed with the ladies and the cowboys. Speed and Glass put in the time they are supposed to be training playing cards in a secluded spot. The cowboys explain to Speed how much the race means to them. Speed assures them he will do his best. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the gumman, declares the trainer will go back east packed in ice, if Speed fails.

"So it would," growled Mr. Smith, "That beaver will last a man a life-

"if you had died when you ought to."

Simple Enough. "You are ninety-seven years old?"

"What are your rules for reaching such an unusual age?" "I dunno as I have any in particular. there, young man.
