Spelling Contest

The fifth county spelling contest at the high school room Friday afternoon, was a very interesting affair. The schools represented were Dodge, Eagle Creek, Boring, Tracy, Garfield, Springwater, Barton, Currinsville and Estacada, with four spellers from each school with the exception of Garfield who had but three. A short program preceded the spelling contest, given by the pupils of the Estacada schools, which was entertaining and well received. H. M. James took charge of the contest which lasted over an hour. The spelling was brisk and when completed, three contestants Charlot DeFord and Lona Davis of Barton and Ralph Wade of Currinsville were left to have a final contest at a later date, if agreeable to all concerned. The next contest will be held at Logan April 17. During the afternoon pupils from different schools enjoyed themselves with giving their class yells and visiting. The high school room would not hold the large number who attended the contest which shows the great interest taken in this most laudable undertaking conducted by Supervisor James.

"Uncle Josiah" at Boner's theatre Friday evening, put on by high school pupils, was a splendid success. Each one who took part in the play did unusually well for amateurs and showed much talent. Mr. Nash of Portland furnished some violin and mandolin music with piano accompaniment by Miss Hattie Belfis. The stage settings were good as also were the costumes and the play was carried out without a hitch. A large and appreciative audience greeted the players. Proceeds amounted to nearly $50.00.

Etiquette Contest Next

The spelling match came off, but people crowded in till it was almost suffocating and then they skuffed their feet on the floor and whispered till the contestants could scarcely hear the words pronounced. Some who sat near to them would start spelling at the words before the contestants had time to spell them. The next is an etiquette contest.
