B. F. Ford, Estacada

All desired information will be gladly given. The necessary tents for the exhibit have been ordered and the committee hope that they will contain exhibits creditable both as to quality and quantity.
Now is the time to be getting your exhibits ready, for the fair takes place Sept. 8th and 9th next.

Influx To Cary's Hot Springs

The last week has seen dozens of camping, hunting and fishing parties start from Estacada into the mountains nearby. Mr. H. E. Cross of Oregon City and fourteen boys, left Monday for the Cary Hot Springs and five other Oregon City men followed on Monday. Two parties of Portland people and three people from Barton, are enroute now to the Springs and more are asking regarding accommodations. Roger Cary is again back in the mountains after a few days of civilization in Estacada.

Doc Palmateer of Garfield took a party of railway men into the mountains last week and expects to remain camping with them for a few days at least, their destination is Squaw Lake or vicinity.

Bill Perry recently made a trip up the Clackamas this week, in charge of another party of men bound for the Hot Springs and points above. As a precaution while hunting deer, several of the outgoing hunters have been equipped with red or bright colored shirts, hats or neck scarfs, even this precaution may not be sufficient for some of the city nitwits don't know the color of a deer anyway.

Real Estate Transfer

It will be noted that several transfers of real estate have taken place in the past thirty days in and about Estacada. The Progress has recorded two sales near Eagle Creek and a couple near Estacada. The latest one comprises the sale of 25 acres by W. F. Cary, to J. A. Somers of Estacada, the land being located beyond Estacada Heights near the Whitbeck property. Mr. Somers is already putting in odd hours working on the farm and is beginning to ask questions about dairying, fruit raising and other rural occupations.

The transfer of real estate always means the beginning of good times and notwithstanding the European war, Estacada will soon be experiencing its old prosperity.

Christian Church Plans

The Official Board of the Christian Church are working now with a view of obtaining the services of some young man to act as pastor of the church, owing to the resignation of Mr. Givens. They expect to find a new pastor by October 1st.

Last Sunday the pulpit was occupied by Dr. Y. S. Troyer, evangelist and lecturer of Portland. Dr. Troyer delivered good sermons at both the morning and evening services.

H. G. Trowbridge of the Garfield Mercantile Co. recently purchased a Ford automobile, equipped to handle the hauling of supplies from the Estacada station to the store. The car will also see its full share of use, as a pleasure vehicle.

Agricultural Statistics

T. W. Cross, agricultural expert of the P. R. L. & P. Co. in order to obtain sufficient and comprehensive data regarding the agricultural conditions in this section, is sending out the following form of postal card.

The post card is arranged with a return blank, which all farmers are requested to fill out and mail, as soon as received.

"My Dear Sir: Having been employed by the Portland Railway Light & Power Company to lend whatever aid or assistance I can to assist the farmers and ranchmen tributary to the company's lines in Multnomah and Clackamas counties toward adopting improved methods of farming, I am anxious to secure from you such data as will aid me in my work. If I can have at hand the kind of crops you raise, I am sure I can help you by furnishing you data which has brought success to others in your chosen field."
T. W. Cross, Gresham, Oregon.

On return postal:-

1. Name
2. Post Office
3. How many acres under cultivation?
4. How many acres not cultivated?
5. What does your crop consist of and how many acres are planted in Wheat--Oats--Rye--Barley--Vetch--Hops--Potatoes--Corn--Vegetables--
6. How many acres in small fruit?
7. How many head of live stock have you? Cattle--Hogs--Horses--Sheep--Chickens--

Mr. Cross has also furnished this office the following information regarding alfalfa as raised west of the Cascade Range.

"At the present time the growing of alfalfa west of the Cascade Mountains is only in the experimental stage. Small areas are to be found in various places, some of which are doing reasonably well, but most of these have not been planted long enough and have not been studied sufficiently to justify definite conclusion as to future usefulness of alfalfa in this region.

There are many localities with well drained soils, in which it will unquestionably succeed if given proper treatment. In regions in which the rainfall is as great as it is at certain seasons west of the Cascades, alfalfa requires a loose, permeable subsoil, and seems to thrive best on the sandy loams along the water courses. The best alfalfa fields noticed were on the sandy alluvial soils on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers. The water table of land selected for alfalfa should be at least four feet below the surface and the land should not be subject to overflow. Alfalfa will stand a considerable flooding provided the water is running but it is usually destroyed if stationary water covers it for a few days.

There are two important difficulties to overcome in the successful production of alfalfa in this section. In the first place, blue grass, English rye grass, Italian rye grass, velvet grass, cinch grass and many other grasses and weeds have a strong tendency to crowd out alfalfa. This difficulty is largely overcome by eradicating the plants before the seeding of alfalfa is done. Thorough disking and harrowing with a heavy weighted harrow when the alfalfa has made but little growth, or just after cutting a crop of hay, tends to keep it vigorous and holds the weeds and grasses in check. Although these grasses when growing with alfalfa, actually decrease the total amount of forage produced, they also decrease the danger of bloating, when the field is pastured by sheep, goats or cattle. In fact grasses are sometimes purposely sown with alfalfa for this purpose. Secondly, the first and last crops of alfalfa mature at seasons of the year when it is very difficult to make hay on account of damp weather, but this objection is obviated by using the first and third cuttings for ensilage, soiling or pasture.

(The Progress wishes to hear from any readers who have experimented with the growing of alfalfa in this section. Mr. C. C. Saling of Currinsville experimented with it some time ago, with rather favorable results.)

Auto Truck Service Discontinued

It has been stated on good authority that the Rex Inter-city Truck Service has been discontinued at Estacada. Driver Neilson decided to quit, after learning the attitude of the local merchants, favoring the P. R. L. & P. Co.

Estacada needs no other transportation or freight service but it does need some manufacturing establishment and merchants and townspeople will welcome and help anyone wishing to locate the latter line of business here.

News Notes

From All Sections

Rev. Hoffner preached a good sermon last Sunday at the George Presbyterian church and the special Harry at Home program was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. A. Drill of Faraday returned to her home a week ago after an extended vacation, visiting Mr. Drill's relatives at Yamhill, and later camping at the Gladstone Chautauqu.

Dr. L. A. Wells returned the past week from a week's motor-trip through the central part of the state. He is now ready at his office for his patients, as usual.

The work on the bridge over Eagle Creek, from George to Estacada is progressing rapidly, as the workmen are now busy riveting the steel structure and building the approaches.

Mrs. N. B. Potwin and daughter Beth of Forest Grove, Ore., after a three weeks visit at home of Mrs. Emily Lady, returned to their home Tuesday. Gilbert Potwin and wife of Portland were Sunday visitors at the Lady home.

Judge G. W. Wonacott of Rosburg and son Chas. Wonacott of Portland arrived in Estacada Tuesday afternoon. They went immediately to Charles Garfield fruit ranch and from there are making a few days fishing trip.

The Misses Mary and June Oakley of Seattle are visiting at the home of their sister, Mrs. J. W. Reed. The Reed family and relatives left early Tuesday morning for Tillamook to spend a week at the seashore.

Prin. Ford of the Estacada schools reports that from six to ten new high school pupils are considering coming to the Estacada school the coming season, as the result of his efforts for the past week.

Oregon City has arranged to have their main street paved with a bitulithic pavement. Estacada hopes to do the same some day, but matters at present are awaiting the report of the of the out of the city property owners.

Among the numerous local automobile owners, can be added the name of W. R. Reid of Garfield, who recently purchased a Metz car, of capacity sufficient for one third of their family per trip.

Mrs. H. V. Adix returned Thursday morning from a ten-day trip to the Yellowstone National Park. She reports an especially enjoyable trip and was glad to have missed the famous stage robbery by one day.

Mrs. Irvin D. Wright's mother and sister, Mrs. M. L. Hill and Miss Harriet Hill of Winnemucca, Nevada, are visiting at the Wright home. Miss Frankie Hermitage of Winnemucca with Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hawley of Portland, joined the family party over Sunday.

C. W. Devore of Estacada returned Sunday morning from a few days intended vacation at Drain, Ore. His intended vacation, ended up in work, for the services of an attorney were urgently needed at that place on his arrival. Mr. Devore reports that Drain recently built and are operating a $2,000 cannery and this year are confining their efforts to canning string beans in half gallon cans.

Dr. Walter B. Nugent of the Central Congregational Church of Newburyport, Mass., arrived in Estacada last Monday for an extended vacation visit at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Whitcomb of Garfield. Mrs. Nugent and the children had preceded the doctor by a few weeks. Inasmuch as Dr. Nugent was brought up on a farm as a boy, his services in the grain fields of Hardisrable Ranch will be greatly appreciated at this time.

Much has been said about the new coat of paint on the Estacada State Bank Building, also its newly lettered signs and general renovation, and last but not least, some mention should be made of the beautiful, varicolored, multi hued, rainbow striped, iridescent, spectrum tinted, transcendent and sublime coloring of Cashier Wright's silk shirts. These shirts are works of art, poetry in silk and visions of gatziness, pleasing to the depositor's eye and doing away with the world feeling associated with the filthy luche.
