Ken Bartlett and Bob Morton, who are attending the University of Oregon, are both on the varsity football squad. When two freshmen receive this honor, it is due to their football ability and reflects highly on the efficient knowledge of the game as taught by Prin. Ford at the Estacada High school. Bartlett played for a short spell during the recent Oregon-Whitman game, and if he plays a couple more times, he will be entitled to his "big O" this year. Morton is lighter in weight, but has the right stuff in him and will be heard from another year at least.

Waterbury & Chapman expect to move into their new location, by the 20th of October. They have rented and are having remodeled the Sparks building, formerly the Lockerby building, on Broadway. The carpentry and papering is being done by B. R. Kimmel and L. G. Reisland of Estacada. Their new location is one of the best in the city and with the added line of groceries, which they intend to carry, the store will be another credit to Estacada.

Union High School Favored.

Apropos, of our late lamented Estacada High School measure, it might be in line to quote the following, from the Bulletin of the University of Oregon.

The Estacada Union High School measure was defeated at the former election, owing to lack of knowledge by the voters, on the subject. The matter will undoubtedly come up for consideration again and with in another year, at which time, it is likely to meet with general approval, when the tax payer realizes the benefits derived from such educational system.

"So far as the country school remains an institution of one room and one teacher it has become an anachronism in American life and must be changed to something different before the education it gives can be made adequate to the needs of the children living in the country today," says Dr. Joseph Schafer, professor of history at the University of Oregon in an article on rural education which is being widely printed.

Dr. Schafer mourns a little for the "little red school house" of old, which he declares all should honor for the great work it has accomplished in the past, but he proceeds to argue powerfully for an efficient, consolidated school, which will put the pupil in touch with times that are in a thousand ways different from those of his grandfathers.

"Because land is now high and margins of profit narrow," continues Dr. Schafer, "the farmer must be a business man. Because science can aid in making his farm more productive or in preventing losses, he must be trained to apply scientific principles. Because he is a citizen, cosmopolitan in his business and social relations, he needs as his equipment an education not a whit less thorough or less broad than that which today comes as a matter of course to the man entering business life in the towns or cities."

Christian Church Notice

To whom it may concern:—
We, the undersigned members of the Christian Church, desire in this manner to express to the public the following statement of facts relative to the change in the affairs of the church at this place: Upon the resignation of Walter Givens as pastor of the church, such resignation being accepted as his wish, J. C. Ghormley was duly called to the pastorate with a full understanding, between himself and the congregation, that he should devote but two days per week to the pastorate at this place, the remaining five days of the week being spent in the Portland Medical College. After an acceptance of the work by Mr. Ghormley, a change in the affairs of the Portland Medical College made it impossible for Mr. Ghormley to give more than Saturday evening and Sunday to the work at this place, and necessitating his return to Portland on the last car on Sunday evening. Believing that it would be impossible for Mr. Ghormley under this new arrangement to continue his school work and at the same time successfully carry on the pastorate of this church, the congregation, realizing the necessity of Mr. Ghormley continuing in the Medical work to enable him to return to his post in India in 1916, by a unanimous vote, released him from his contract, and by the unanimous vote Walter Givens was again asked to take up the pastorate of the church, indefinitely. Because of our many friends, who are at all times interested in the affairs of the church, who will desire to know the reason for this sudden change of affairs, we take this means of giving to the public a full and complete statement of the facts.

Plumber Miller

Chas. C. Miller, of Viola and Milwaukie, is now an Estacada merchant and welcomed by his local associates. He recently purchased the plumbing business, conducted by C. M. Sparks and took over the active management, last Monday morning. The Estacada people, who worked with Mr. Miller during the losing Cascade county fight, know him to be a hustler, up-to-date, progressive and a worker, they join the Progress in wishing him success. Mr. Miller is an experienced man in this line of work and should get his share of the business.

Church Support

The Methodist Episcopal Church of Estacada has recently had printed some neat subscription blanks, to be distributed among the townspeople.

These blanks read—"I hereby subscribe, and agree to pay, $-e- per week for the support of the gospel for the ensuing year, beginning Oct. 1, 19-- and ending Sept. 30, 19--.

Also—per week for the benevolent causes of the church.
The church stands for high ideals and the good of the community. The church depends for its existence, upon the moral and financial support of its friends. Your contribution will be thankfully accepted.

"He that giveth unto the church, giveth not as unto man, but as unto the Lord."
Name— Address—

These cards and pledges will be circulated by Mrs. T. J. Reagan and Mr. B. F. Ford, and they should meet with the community's hearty support.

The majority of us take a very inactive part in the actual work, being done by our churches, our main excuse being selfishness or laziness and a desire to use Sunday as a holiday.

The church would probably prefer a contributors' enthusiastic co-operation and work, in preference to the mere cash, or better still they need both.

In as much as the majority of us, and the word majority is used advisedly, do not take an active interest in the church work, the least we can do is to help financially.
The Bible states, among other well accepted facts, something to the effect, that such money as we give unto the Lord and his work, will be returned to us many fold. The editor is unable to quote the exact wording, owing to his being of the "majority" but if we believe the other biblical truths, we should believe this.

There is a certain little secret glow of self satisfaction or reflected righteousness, which always comes to anyone of us, after we have made a donation to the Lord's work, and even if we don't deserve it for our small contribution, it helps. Did you ever note the satisfied feeling that always follows church attendance, especially when the attendant has been a little self-sacrificing in going to church. That same feeling will prevail, after you have signed one of these subscription cards.

Whether you are a church worker, a semi-worker or a non-worker, sign one of these cards when it is presented to you and meet the solicitor more than half way. Its hard enough work soliciting money without having to be made to feel that you are begging it.

Our Estacada churches are doing a big work and with mighty little financial support, so let us hope that this year we will have a banner one in church finances. If everyone in town agreed to give 10c per week, it would figure $40. per week, so every pledge, no matter its size, will help.

Roosters Scarce

It has probably been noticed by all hunters this season, that China roosters are especially scarce, that is in the proportion of cocks to hens. In former years, there were equally as many of each sex, in fact with a preponderance of cocks, but this year the females are in evidence about six to one, over the males. This condition is especially noticeable in the Garfield section.

It seems as though the game laws should be modified to allow of the shooting of both sexes, during the open season, for the present ratio is certainly due to the protection of the hens. The Chinese pheasant is a monogamist, as any person familiar with their habits has noticed. The male pheasant can be seen caring for the chicks and he even takes a turn at the egg hatching. In the cases of two broods per year, the cock substantially raises the first brood.

By the end of this season, there will surely be an over supply of widows and old maids among the pheasants, and with the advent of snuffage in Oregon, they should stand their share of the risk.

A. E. Sparks of Estacada, who has recently purchased the old Lockerby building, intends to immediately tear up the old wooden sidewalk and replace it with a concrete one. Mr. Beary of Portland has promised to continue the good work along his holdings. With our new paving and new cement sidewalks, Estacada will begin to look like prosperity again.
W. M. Warnock of Springwater, celebrated his 79th birthday, Oct. 4th. Some neighbor asked Mace as to who would do his fall plowing for him? The question was about as sensible as to ask Ty Cobb, who is to do his ball playing, for W. M. had just finished a 49-year old man's job of plowing. The Progress and his many friends wish him many returns of the day.
