ESTACADA 6, OREGON CITY 14 County Seaters Finally Get Revenge

Last Saturday afternoon, the heavy and fast Oregon City High foot-ball team, won against the Estacada team by a score of 14 to 6, and are gloating over their revenge for last year's defeat.

Estacada has nothing to be ashamed of in their losing, for they were up against a heavier and more experienced line up. The county seaters played good foot ball and, with few exceptions, played a clean game.

At the end of the first half, the score of 7 to 6 in favor of the visitors, looked as though Estacada was going to more than hold their own, but straight line plunging in the second half, against our lighter line, landed another touch down with its attendant goal. On Estacada's touchdown, the goal was missed as usual.

To name the stars of this game would mean the naming of every player on Estacada's team, for every man more than played his part. Dale and Womer, as always, were ground gainers and Dale's 40 yard run for a goal, was the most spectacular of the season. Denny not only was a ground gainer, but his tackling broke up many a play in its infancy.

The newest constellations to appear in this, their last game, were Wagner and Barr. These two boys broke up more plays than any other three men on either team and their tackling was a joy to the spectator, but far from a pleasure to the opposing runner.

One fact was apparent to the spectators and that was the superior physical condition of Ford boys as compared with their antagonists. Almost no time was taken out for Estacada's men to recuperate, while Oregon City had several men temporarily laid out and the interval gave them time to get their wind. If Estacada had insisted on longer halves, as originally outlined, the score might have been different, for Estacada could have stood double the playing period without signs of exhaustion.

One of the Oregon City faculty acted as referee and his decisions were fair in every way with no partiality shown.

CANNERY MEETING Gresham to Meet with Estacada

At two o'clock Saturday, afternoon, December 12th there will be a mass meeting held at the Family Theatre in Estacada, to consider the proposals of the Gresham cannery officials, as recently outlined in the Progress.

Pres. Davis will bring along a number of speakers, who will outline their work, and present their co-operative proposition to the Estacada growers and give an idea of the price paid for the produce.

Every grower of small fruits, grower of vegetables, and farmer, should be present at this meeting. The Gresham people mean business and the local grower does too. It is likely that such a union with our neighbors will prove a profitable deal for this community and solve the long standing question of the planting and disposal of our produce.

Let every grower be present, and prepared to ask questions and prepared to take some definite action, as regards his or her personal attitude on this subject.

It looks as though such a union would be just what Estacada needs at this time, as the planting and marketing of their produce can be done, without having to invest in a cannery in advance.

1915 County Budget

Tuesday, September 15, 1914 is the day set for a meeting of the Clackamas County Court, in the County Court room in Oregon City, for the purpose of levying taxes to defray the probable expenses of the County. At that time and place, any taxpayer, subject to such levy when made, may be heard in favor of, or against any proposed tax levies. The budget as outlined in the Oregon City Courier, if properly added up, would total over the half million mark, although other reports show a total of about $350,000.

This money as raised and expended by the county, through its officials, is a big sum, and if handled by a corporation or business house, would necessitate a very thorough and up-to-date system of bookkeeping and auditing.

Is Clackamas county availing itself of the most approved system for the handling and accounting of these moneys? This question is not meant as an insinuation in any way, but at the time of the "lost Cascade county struggle" the preliminary report of the auditors, was not overly reassuring.

ALL DISTRICTS VOTE TAX Few Changes Among Supervisors

Special road meetings were held last Saturday in the following road districts, numbers 49, 10, 55, 4, 33, 9 and 45, as previously advertised in the Progress.

District 49, comprising Upper Garfield, as usual, voted a ten mill special tax and retained G. T. Hunt as supervisor. The money to be expended in continuing the present graveled roads, from the church, south towards the school house, and from the church east towards the Davis Mill.

District 10, comprising Lower Garfield, voted an 8 mill special tax, and retained as supervisor, Chas. Duncan. The money to be expended as follows: $1,000 on the connecting road, from Botkin's towards the George Bridge road; $1,300 on the Keagan road, leading into Estacada; and $400 on the Pinkley road.

District 33, comprising Springwater, voted 5 mill special tax to be spent $700 on the Hill road, $600 on Bard road, $500 on Dodge road, $250 on Shibley road and $200 on Highland road. Balance to be used along the rural route in eastern part of the district. Frank Millard was retained as supervisor.

District 4, comprising Currinsville, voted 4 mills special tax to be expended, 60% on the main road, from the Eagle Creek bridge, to the church, and the balance on the Heiple and other connecting highways. Albert Kitching was retained as supervisor.

District 9, comprising the George country, jumped into the 10 mill special tax class, with all of the money to be spent in graveled the new George bridge road towards Estacada. Fred Lins was elected supervisor by a small majority over A. M. Janssen.

District 55, comprising the Viola section, voted 10 mill special tax, and elected G. Hively as supervisor, succeeding A. A. Allen. The money to be spent on main highways and connecting roads.

The Elwood district, No. 45, voted a 3 mill special tax and elected Jesse Cox as supervisor in place of Chris Bittner.

Eagle Creek, Barton and Estacada districts, will hold their meetings next Saturday.

Eastern Clackamas may well be proud of this record for continued good road building. These good roads will bring more than their share of prosperity into this most favored section of the county.

BUTCHERING DEMONSTRATION Professional to Wield Knife

Saturday morning, Dec. 12th, will be the formal dedication day of the Estacada Stock Yards.

C. E. Lucke, the Clackamas County hog buyer for the Union Meat Co. spent last Monday afternoon in Estacada, looking over the site of the new yards.

Mr. Lucke is a practical hog man and knows swine from the nursing to the sausage stage. He is going to buy hogs, sheep and cattle in this part of the county hereafter and ship through the Estacada Yards.

In order to get acquainted with the swine breeders and others interested and to demonstrate that selling the hog on the hoof is more economical than selling the dressed pork, arrangements have been made to hold a butchering demonstration, at 10 A. M. December 12th.

That is the day set for the Cannery meeting in the afternoon and it will allow the farmer to kill two birds with one stone, or see six pigs killed with one knife.

The Union Meat Co will send out an expert butcher and the necessary tools to give a public exhibition, to show the exact amount of waste due to the present custom of home butchering. Mr. Lucke will be there to arrange regular buying trips and dates in this section.

About six hogs will be needed for this demonstration, of varying weights, from 150 to 300 lbs. and Mr. Lucke will buy them from the farmer at either dressed or on the hoof prices. Advise the Progress if you have pigs to sell for this demonstration and Mr. Lucke will call.

The railway company have promised to have the yards in readiness for the celebration and the dedication will be solemnized by a real sacrifice, with the sacrificial hogs paving the way to the future growth of the local hog industry.

Everyone is invited to come to Estacada that day and spend the day, take in the butchering in the morning and the cannery meeting in the afternoon.

The Molalla Stock Yards last year did a $41,000 business, while the Canby Yards did over $86,000 worth. Estacada should beat these figures in a year or two at least.

Come prepared to ask all of the questions you can think of about hog raising and hog selling, but come anyway.
