Announcement

We beg to announce to the citizens of Estacada and this community, that we have taken over the Flour & Feed business, formerly conducted by J. F. Lovelace of Estacada.

With the cooperation and support of our friends and the people of this part of the county, we intend to conduct a first class business, handling only the best of stock, and at prices fair to both consumer and dealer.

It is our intention to ultimately enlarge the business to include several additional lines, but at present we will confine our efforts to the same lines as have formerly been handled.

We have taken over not only the business and good-will of the former owner, but have purchased all accounts, so that such indebtedness as may be due the former management, can be paid to us.

We hope to warrant your present and future business, and trust that our trade relations may be both cordial and beneficial.

TRACY & GIVENS, Successors to J. F. Lovelace, Estacada, Oregon.

The Advance sums up the New Year's Resolutions as follows:

"Despise not good resolutions, nor mock too much at those who make and break them. Were it not better to resolve to be better and to keep that resolution for one day than that the whole 365 should be lived on unambitious levels? And if the good resolution should last for two days, or ten, and then collapse and let us sag back to where we were, and no lower, should we not thank God for the two or ten days of better living and of larger hope?"

But not all good resolutions are short lived. Some last the whole year through and justify themselves in that they make room for other and still better resolutions. No one is so bad but he can afford the luxury and extravagance of resolving to be better, and no one is too good to deny himself this added satisfaction, the solemn hope and inspiring purpose of improvement."

Oregon City is proud of its 1914 record and well may it be, with a decrease of 55% in the number of arrests due to the liquor traffic, as compared with the previous year, under the booze regime. If figures were available, showing a comparison between Estacada's wet and dry days, it would show about 99.99% less arrests; and one empty building, owned by a non-resident, is about the only penalty to date.

The Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs are making a preliminary canvas to ascertain the number of crippled children, in the state of Oregon, to whom they may furnish free medical treatment of the most modern scientific kind, that is, in all cases where the family income is not sufficient for expensive consultation with specialists.

In a letter to the Progress, they request that the readers advise Mrs.
Millie R. Trumbull, Secy, of the Child Welfare Commission, 250 1/2 Third St., Portland, Oregon, of any child, who is crippled as the result of an accident, spinal meningitis, infantile paralysis, tuberculosis of the bones or joints, or from any other crippling cause.

It is maintained that these little cripples, besides being the most pitiful of all cases of helplessness, and besides being without organized assistance, in contrast with the great state institutions for the deaf, blind and feeble minded, are also the most curable if treated in time and the most able, when so treated to make good, strong, useful citizens.

For this work, many noted physicians are offering their services free and men and women all over the state are interested in the cause.

If you know of anyone who could be benefitted by this crusade, notify Mrs. Trumbull or notify this office and the names will be sent in to the proper parties.

Sometime ago complaint was registered at this office, against automobiles using the public highways at night, without having their lights on. The complaint was justified and the law requires that certain fore and aft lights be lighted.

This law was enacted to protect the pedestrian and the horse vehicle on the public highways. But there should be a law compelling every vehicle to carry some light, especially during the extremely dark nights of winter; not that two teams are liable to collide, but to do away with danger of collisions with an auto, for the auto driver can only see the road a short distance ahead of his machine and on other than level or straight roads, can see less.

Outside of the beam of light cast by an auto headlight, it is especially dark and every auto driver will agree that it is dangerous for any vehicle to be on the road without some kind of a light, if only a lantern swinging from the dash board.

By Products Meeting

A meeting of all organizations and growers interested in fruit and vegetable by-products will be held in Portland, January 25th.

Dr. Haviland Buried

The funeral services for the late Dr. Haviland of Estacada, were held in Holman Chapel in Oregon City, with interment in Mountain View Cemetery, Saturday, Jan. 2nd at 11 o'clock. A number of Es-tacada friends and relatives attended the services.

Estacada Wardens Make More Arrests

Deputy Game Wardens Patton and Ames made a second trip last week into the mountains beyond Molalla and located two more illegal deer slayers. The wardens finally had to obtain search warrants and after a thorough search of the violators' homes, found sufficient fresh deer meat to warrant the arrests. The arrested men will be tried at Oregon City, January 8th, and a conviction should be obtained.
