The Estacada Grammar School will be standardized on Friday evening, April 2nd, at 8 P. M. This will make our school the first and only one of the first or second-class districts to be standardized in Clackamas county. The County Superintendent, J. E. Calavan and Supervisor McCormick will be the speakers of the evening. The school will also present a program that will prove interesting.

Beginning at 9:45 Saturday morning, April 3rd, an East Clackamas Teachers' Institute will be held in the High School Assembly room. An interesting program has been arranged by Mr. McCormick, dealing directly with the teacher and her work. The result will be that the teacher will be able to take home something practical and not theoretical as is so often the case. The teachers themselves are the ones on the program.

The Freshmen won the tug-of-war contest from the Sophomores and as a result their flag was flying on Wednesday of last week. To make it good measure the Freshmen girls won a basket ball game from the Sophomore girls by the score of 8 to 3.

The Commencement program has been arranged and will be published in the near future. The program this year is expected to be better than ever before.

"100 students in the Estacada High School next year" (motto).

Income Over $1300.00

Buyer C. E. Lucke paid out over $1300.00 to the growers of hogs and livestock purchased for this week's shipment from the Estacada Stock Yards. The stock was to have been shipped Monday noon as usual, but owing to a shortage of cars, the stock did not leave the yards until Wednesday. But it is an ill wind that does not bring the Estacada feed stores a profit and during the two days wait the hogs were stuffed to their hearts' content, and the buyer paid the bill. Already reservations have been made for over 50 hogs for the next shipment, which will occur Monday noon, April 5th.

The new Fairbank's scales are now installed at the yards, comprising gates and runways leading from the unloading place into the yards. These scales are roofed over and present a very business like appearance.

All that is needed now is a meat packing plant to finish the industry, but there is no immediate prospect of this addition. The Aurora Observer, commenting on a recent account of the stock yards in the Progress, says that their city needs yards, but to date have not been able to even land a loading chute. They ask whether the fault lies in the farmers, the townspeople or the railroad company, but if they will come over here, we will give them a few inside pointers on how to establish a stock yards.

Lorenzo Tenny Passes Away

Lorenzo Tenny, for 21 years a resident of the Viola district, died at his home last Friday, March 19th. The end came peacefully, after a lingering illness from a complication of heart trouble, dropsy and old age.

Mr. Tenny came to this county in 1894 from Nebraska, locating near Viola. He was born in New York state, but for many years was located in the middle west, prior to his coming to Oregon.

He is survived by his widow, a son, L. F. Tenny, and a daughter, Miss Olive Tenny, all of whom reside near Viola.

The funeral services conducted by the Rev. Kady and Mr. A. Demoy, were held Sunday afternoon at the Viola church with interment in the Redland cemetery.

Taking Flies Now

Many of the local anglers are having luck with the trout, in the deep waters of the Clackamas, adjoining the Estacada Park. While it is a little early for fly fishing, many big fish have been landed with this bait, although the best catches to date have been made with salmon egg bait. Such well known fishermen as Simmons and Jim Smith of Estacada are telling some awful stories about the "out-laws" and "bull mooses" they are landing and samples of the fish have been seen. Ed. Boner, Whitfield and Heylman, like the editor, don't brag much about their catches, but have enjoyed their share of fish dinners, so far this year.

Remember, the Progress is giving a year's subscription to the party catching the biggest trout between now and July 1st, but the fish must be shown at this office.

One of the busiest spots in this part of the county for the past two weeks, is Reed's Estacada Garage, with over a dozen automobiles being overhauled, new ones assembled and old ones being put in readiness for the spring travel.
