

THE OLD SCHOOL TEACHER KNOWS HOW THE GOOD JUDGE FEELS

YOUR own taste and comfort tells you that "Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew.

If you like tobacco and are not using "Right-Cut" already, go to your dealer and get a pouch. Then you'll get real tobacco satisfaction and the taste of sappy, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

And you'll get it steady—without having to grind on a big wad.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary caudied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Patent Cow Catcher

One of the enterprising bankers of Estacada, whose name is withheld, last week purchased a white canvas hammock with the necessary ropes attached. After carefully hanging it in a nearby grove, a happy little calf, having fully gorged itself on the succulent grass nearby, wandered into the grove and either in attempting to climb into the hammock for a nap, or while scratching its back on the new ropes, became entangled in the cords.

The fun began then as the neighboring housewives came to the rescue of the imperiled veal. The little calflet, with the hammock securely tied at one end began a merry-go-round of the tree with the fair damsels trying to extricate it with the aid of a pink parasol, a school teacher and a mother-in-law. At each approach the enmeshed animal would charge its rescuers and but for the timely arrival of one of Estacada's editor's wives, serious damage might have resulted; but the heroine's vast experience with cattle, coupled with a knowledge of which end of the critter to avoid, finally untangled the bonds.

George Celebration

Between two and three hundred people enjoyed the George July 4th. celebration, held in the grove and club house of the George Commercial & Social Club last Saturday.

A goodly crowd of Estacada and Garfield neighbors joined in the good time and more of the former friends would have been present if Saturday had not been such a busy day with the merchants.

An extensive and highly interesting program was given, which represented weeks of hard work and practise on the part of the participants. Messrs Givens and Bartlett of Estacada were among the speakers, but aside from them the program, consisting of musical numbers, recitations and a playlet, was made up entirely of the George younger folks.

The Garfield band added much to the enjoyment of the day, and their part on the program received the heartiest of applause.

After the lunch hour, a tug of war was held between teams representing Estacada and Garfield, with the Estacada boys winning second honors.

Party Organized

It is likely that the California auto touring party, originally composed of Messrs Lovelace and Sparks and families, of Estacada will be augmented by the addition of C. W. Devore and Alf Drill and families. Under such conditions the trip should be an especially pleasant one. The party expect to leave Estacada next Friday or Saturday.

The afternoon and evening were spent in dancing and with the good floor and good music, everyone joined in excepting a few of the older people.

Among the older folks were seven pioneers of the George and Garfield communities who greatly enjoyed reminiscencing former days and especially the first July 4th. celebration held in George in the year 1874.

The following seven old settlers were present at that initial celebration, and also at last Saturday's picnic: Mr. and Mrs. Hans Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paulson and baby son Julius of George and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Palmateer of Garfield. The first celebration was held on the Held place in George among the then forest and stump covered hill sides.
