School Notes

The Estacada Schools opened Monday with an enrollment in both the grammar and high schools in excess of last year.

Eighty six pupils registered in the latter department and probably the total attendance will total one hundred, as many pupils cannot enroll until after the prune drying and other fall farm work.

Stanley Turel and family of Dodge have moved into their Estacada home where all the children except Stanley, Jr. have begun school work.

The cooking course is proving extremely attractive to the girls.

The boys are turning out for athletics in a way that promises championships for E. H. S.

Sam Barr, Lewis Jones and Otis Wagner of the high school returned from the forestry work Monday night and entered school immediately. George Harkenrider is expected back from Eastern Oregon in a few days.

Parent-Teachers

The Estacada Parent-Teachers' Association will hold the first meeting of the school year next Thursday, Sept. 23rd at 3 o'clock. An interesting program has been prepared. All parents are cordially invited to attend.

Many Growers Disappointed

It might be well for the growers to unite and make up a carload shipment of their own stock and sell direct at the Portland Stock Yards. The car would cost $22.50 from Estacada to the Portland yards, and will hold 80 to 100 hogs, or about sixty head of mixed livestock. Let the growers send a representative with the car to look out for the selling at the yards and to familiarize himself with the process of shipping and selling. Each grower's stock will be sold separately, so no grower will have to sacrifice his high grade of stock, because another grower is shipping poorer grade stuff.

Like any other business that is worth establishing, the shipping of livestock on the hoof is subject to its ups and downs and it is hoped that some remedy can be found to solve this problem, but it must come from the growers and by cooperation. The Progress will gladly call a meeting of all grower at the request of some of the farmers.

Suburban Property Sold

The Conway acre place with its attractive house in South Estacada was sold last week to Mr. Thos Samson of Estacada, who will make it his future home. The consideration was about two thousand dollars.

A. J. Mills, Tom Morton and Chas. Frazier of Estacada, who have been in the forestry work in the mountains for the past sixty days, returned home last Saturday. The fire may have burned merrily in the mountain timber, but it had not even singed the luxuriant growth of whiskers on these fearless fire fighters.
