New Bank To Open Nov. 15

The new bank at Oregon City, headed by Leroy D. Walker of Portland will open its doors for business about Nov. 15th. It is likely that an Oregon City man will act as cashier, with Mr. Walker giving his entire time to the active management.

Mr. Walker is president of the Estacada State Bank and interested in the banks at Canby and Molalla. The institution will make a specialty of a savings department, paying 4% interest on savings deposits.

The best wishes for success are extended by Mr. Walker's many friends here.

J. Willits Ferguson, district fire warden for Clackamas, Multnomah and Marion counties, who with his wife has been making Estacada his headquarters for the past six months, left last week for Portland, where they will reside during the winter, Mr. Ferguson having office in the Yeon Bldg. There is always hope though that John's smiling face will appear in our midst again, about the time the robin's return and the trout begin biting.

Carys To Move

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cary of Estacada will be surprised to learn of their intention of moving to Portland within a few days.

Mr. Cary recently consummated plans which will necessitate his living in Portland in order to attend to his business there, so their newly completed home in Estacada is now for sale.

While Mr. Cary will be in Estacada occasionally in connection with the Cascade Realty Co., his partner, E. S. Wooster, will handle this end of the business.

Though the Carys may live in Portland, local people will always feel that they belong in Estacada, where they have been identified with the growth and development for many years, but wish them success in their new location.

Miss M. Gertrude Jones, formerly of the Estacada High School faculty, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Kuhrasche of Estacada for a few days last week. The students were especially pleased to meet Miss Jones again and only wish her work was still confined to the Estacada schools instead of Willamette Academy in Salem.

Rex, the fine old pointer dog belonging to W. A. Jones of Estacada dropped dead of heart disease while hunting last Sunday. Rex was a well known figure on Estacada's streets and a faithful canine friend. So let's hope he has gone to a Happy Hunting grounds, where pheasants are more plentiful than in this here neck of the woods.
