DEER SEASON ENDS

No Fatalities Among Hunters Few Among Deer

As Postmaster Johnson says: "I never did like venison anyway" represents the feelings of many people in this community, including friends, relatives and the immediate families of the deer hunters.

With the ending of the season, October 31st, the various hunting parties came straggling home, not overly burdened with trophies of the chase, although a few of them had landed a buck.

The Progress office was forced to hold open after hours to allow all hunters to register excuses and from the stories and reminiscences handed out, all nimrods had had a good time and came near bagging the limit, only the darned deer wouldn't stand still enough.

Ballard Looney of Springwater leads the crowd in thrilling stories and escapes, but admits he failed to land his buck this trip. Among his hair raising adventures was the account of a buck, (from his description about twice the size of an ordinary steer) which jumped over the log on which he was resting, and got away amid a shower of bullets, Ballard's aim being bad owing to a large tear trickling down his eye about then, caused by the air rush incident to the swift passage of the stag.

Ballard's party comprised H. B. Sarver of Garfield, the dean of all deer hunters; S. E. Womer of Estacada, who shot the only deer killed by the party; G. P. Looney of Molalla; and Chas. Bauer of Springwater. They camped for three weeks at Camp Kilkare and apparently care was all they did kill.

Richard Davis and Ralph Lemon of Garfield, who early in the season had an unsuccessful trip into the mountains, Saturday decided to try once more nearer home and landed a big buck near Fanton's mill.

Thos Carter of Garfield accompanied by a friend, Guy Colpit of Portland, after an eight days hunt in the vicinity of Oak Grove Mountain, returned with two animals. John Howland, who lives on the upper Clackamas shot one buck Saturday and Henry Warnock of Springwater had similar good luck in the vicinity of the South Fork.

The best luck reported this season, was the potting of five deer by R. F. Palmateer, Jr. of Garfield and his cousin Ira Wills of Fairview, which they killed in the Plaza country in Cougar Canyon early in the season.

Virgil Wagner obtained one five point buck near the mouth of Moore Creek.

Among others who obtained deer this season, were Elmer Davis and party of Garfield and Herb Huxley of Garfield, the latter having slain an extra large fork horned buck, which is being mounted by Taxidermist Tom Carter of Garfield.

ALL A'BOARD

Stockyards Excursion Next Monday

All arrangements have been perfected for the excursion of local livestock growers to visit the Portland Union Stockyards, Monday, November 8th.

Up to Thursday noon, 58 reservations had been made, which is in excess of the 56 seating capacity of a car but the railway officials state that 15 or 20 more can be carried, although it will mean standing room only for the late reservations. As the average excursionist will want to visit with his neighbors, the extra passengers can probably get a chance to sit in a seat part of the time. For Walt Givens, Doc Trowbridge, Charley Bard, Clyde Saling, John Steinman and other nervous excursionists, could not sit still in one seat during an hour and a half trip, anyway.

The car will leave Estacada prompt at 8 o'clock next Monday morning, stopping at Morrow, Currinsville, Alspaugh, Meadow Brook, Eagle Creek and Barton.

There will be a change of cars in Portland, where special cars will meet the train at Second & Stark Sts. The party should arrive at the Stockyards by 10.15 and returning expect to leave 1st and Alder Station about 3.30 P.M. arriving home at a reasonable hour in the late afternoon.

It was at first supposed many ladies would make the trip but only six of the fair sex have decided to go, but more may appear later.

If you intend to join the excursion, notify the Progress office at once and a second car can be ordered as late as Saturday.

Be at the station on time, for the train cannot wait or chase up the road to meet you.

Road Changes Not Satisfactory

The tax payers and Road Supervisor Jesse Cox of the Elwood Road District No. 45 feel that they have been imposed on in the late road district changes made by the county court.

District No. 45 had added to it, four extra sections, which while they are assessed as timber, also include a five mile stretch of rough road leading towards Oregon City. Supervisor Cox says the upkeep of the five miles of road will amount to much more than the income from the four added sections, and furthermore said road leads toward Oregon City, while Elwood naturally wishes to trade towards Estacada or Molalla and Estacada for one wishes to have them.

GRESHAM AFRAID

Woodburn Will Play Here Saturday

After all announcements, advertising and final arrangements had been made for the annual foot ball game between the Estacada and Gresham high school teams, for next Friday, Gresham has backed out at the last minute.

This game had been scheduled since last year and was to have occurred in Estacada, as last year's contest took place at Gresham.

Monday afternoon the manager of the Gresham team phoned to Carl Kimmel, E. H. S. foot ball manager, claiming that his team could not play at Estacada on Friday, as the principal of the school would not allow their travelling on that day. Principal Guthrie of Estacada at once phoned the Gresham principal and learned that the excuse assigned was unfounded. Gresham also had a further excuse, consisting of a detailed wail about part of their foot ball players being farmer boys who had to be at home in time to attend to the chores.

Gresham offered to play on Friday on their own home grounds, or would send their second team to play here on Saturday.

Why doesn't Gresham have its second team do the chores for the members of the first team and do away with their only excuse?

It is perfectly evident that Gresham is afraid to meet E. H. S. this year and are taking this means of side-stepping a probable defeat, as comparative scores made by E. H. S. and Gresham are all in our favor.

It was at first about decided by the E. H. S. team and management to go through to Gresham and give them a first-class beating on their own grounds, but owing to the poor sportsmanship exhibited by Gresham, it was decided to pay no further attention to them, and E. H. S. has scheduled a game for next Saturday, at 2:30 P. M. on the Estacada grounds against the strong Woodburn team.

This should be an even better attraction, for Woodburn's record this year is superior, although there is not the rivalry that exists between Gresham and Estacada.

Everyone should turn out and witness Saturday's game. The 25c you will have to pay for a football ticket is the best investment in two hours exciting sport that ever was offered here, and incidentally it helps defray the visitor's expenses, boosts Estacada High School and advertises the town.

Haven's Home Burned

Early last Friday evening, a fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the home of Al Havens on Zobrist St., Estacada.

Mr. Havens had left the house about seven o'clock, leaving a fire in the heater as usual. About half an hour later McColly Dale discovered the house on fire and immediately turned in the alarm, which was quickly answered by the Estacada Volunteer Fire Department.

By the time the department arrived the house was in flames and owing to a bursting hose the fire had gotten beyond control before water could be directed upon the flames.

Mrs. Havens and son Leo were in Portland and the only cause of the fire surmised by Mr. Havens was the falling of the stove pipe leading from the heater or possibly a lamp overturned by the house cat.

The property was partially covered with insurance but it will far from offset the loss, which included the majority of the household furniture as well as the house.

Temporarily Mr. Havens and family are living in the former bakery building on their property.

Young Wife Passes

Last Sunday morning, October 31st at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Edith Woodle, wife of Ray Woodle of Barton, passed away suddenly.

The sad news was a great shock to her many relatives and friends, with whom the young wife has always been a great favorite. Mrs. Woodle was formerly Miss Edith Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Barton and was in her 27th year.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodle were married seven years ago the 16th of next December and have one child, a boy of five years.

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the Estacada Christian Church, Pastor W. Givens officiating. The interment, in charge of Undertaker Henthorn followed at Lone Oak Cemetery, where the many sorrowing friends paid their last respects to the departed.

All friends and acquaintances join in expressing their sincere sympathy to the sorrow stricken husband, son and parents of the deceased.

C. I. C. Dance Next Saturday

The ladies of the C. I. C. have decided to hold a dance Saturday evening, November 6th in the C. I. C. Rooms in Estacada, to which everyone is invited.

The rooms are plenty large and with the newly oiled and scraped floors, this should prove an enjoyable dance, with Bronson's orchestra dispensing the music.

Admission will be 50c for the gentlemen, with ladies free. Cider and light refreshments will be served.
