EAST CLACKAMAS SUPPLY CO.

"YOUR SATISFACTION IS OUR SUCCESS"

Birthday Surprise

A delightful surprise party was tendered Mr. Phil M. Wagner of Estacada, November 10th, at his home, in honor of his 64th birthday.

A number of friends, headed by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ames marched into the Wagner home Wednesday evening, laden down with fried chicken and other delicacies. While thirteen guests sat down to the festal board, no element of bad luck was allowed to intrude on the good wishes extended to Mr. Wagner for many happy returns of the day.

Supervisors See Sights

About ninety people in all made the auto trip up the Columbia Highway last Saturday, as the guests of the Oregon City Commercial Club and the County Court.

Dinner was served at the Portland Automobile Club at noon and with the pleasant weather, the trip was an ideal one. Several of the East Clackamas road supervisors were present, including Chas Duncan, Albert Kitching, Frank Millard, Guy Hunt, Fred Linns, Alex Baker and others.

The Ladies Aid of the Eagle Creek church is about $22. ahead, owing to the splendid entertainment given last week, when they presented "Miss Jones Tea Party." About $12. was taken in at the door with $10. netted from the refreshments.

Honor Roll Viola School

For second month: Amy and Harry Mattoon, Leslie Hamilton, Andrew Graham, Beulah Hicinbotham, Francis Cummin, Norma and Bruce Randolph, Mildred Cocke-line, Gilbert Mayer, Stanley Ficken and Elmer Olson.

Chief Forester Resigns

In the recent resignation of Chief District Forester, Hugh Mendenhall of Estacada, with his removal last week to Tillamook county, where he will tackle the ranching business. His many friends in Estacada feel that they have truly lost a good friend, and wish him all success in his new venture.

In the appointment of Herman Wallace of Cazadero, to fill the vacancy, the Forestry Department has made a wise choice, as Wallace has had good experience and is well liked by the boys. Wallace is leaving this week for the Oak Grove station, where he expects to remain for the winter.

Noble McMillan, of the Upper Dam P. R. L. & P. Co.'s forces, is now on his vacation, visiting his home near Roseburg and probably will spend a few days duck and goose shooting before returning.

The firs surrounding the Hotel Estacada grounds have this week been trimmed until they now resemble Noah's Ark trees, only lacking the red bases.

Officers Installed

Eagle Camp, No. 539, Woodmen of the World, was instituted at Eagle Creek Saturday night by E. P. Martin, assistant consul for Oregon and Washington, assisted by O. Samain and O. W. T. Muellhaupt, district organizers, and a number of Portland members. There were 30 charter members. William Reidt, head consul of Webfoot camp, assisted by James Rudiman, installed the officers of the new camp as follows: George Smith, past consul; M. W. Rubbert, consul commander; William Still, adviser; Frank Fuchs, escort; Carl Douglass, banker; G. A. Johnson, watchman; M. L. Trullinger, sentry; Fred Anderson, Chris Longwell and Joe Fuchs, managers.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo Martin and family of three girls, have rented the Chas Bard property in Springwater and are now located on the place. Mr. and Mrs. Bard will remain here until after Thanksgiving, when they expect to leave for Garfield, Wash. where they own a handsome Palouse Valley farm.

Claude W. Devore of Estacada left Tuesday noon for Drain, Oregon, where he was called owing to the illness of his aged father.

Engineer Frank Ewing of the Upper Dam, reports that the Clackamas river raised four feet last Monday, owing to the heavy rains. This rise disappeared to the extent of about 18 inches the next day.
