Among the guests at the W. R. Reid home in Garfield on Thanksgiving Day, were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Trowbridge of Estacada, Miss Esther Revell of Damascus and Harry Reid of Portland.

Mrs. B. M. Hurst and family of Risley Station, were Thanksgiving visitors at the parental C. F. Hurst home in South Estacada.

"A Scrap of Paper", the High School Play, will be given Jan. 14. The characters are busy learning their parts. Miss McQuaid is coach.

Chester Womer, one of our Alumni, visited school, while in Estacada during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Jones, a member of last year's faculty, spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Estacada.

The debate tryout of the Websterian-Adelphic Literary Societies, for the State team, will occur, Friday Dec. 3. The State team will consist of four debaters instead of six as last year. The High School should be well represented as there are three of last year's debaters with us.

One of the chief difficulties they encounter, is the obtaining of sufficient material because of the lack of current magazines. If the people of the community would note the issues of the magazines that contain articles on armament, and report them to Mr. Guthrie, or the debaters, they will aid us greatly.

Remember Dec. 7, the date for the Annual School Program. Every body come—to the Family Theatre—at 7:30. Bring your friends and some one else's also. Admission 10 and 20c.

The Thanksgiving program given by the Websterians, Wed. Nov. 24, was interesting from every standpoint.

There will be no program this Friday, other than that to be given by the debaters.

The Juniors are considering their play which is to occur Mar. 3.

It is very evident that the High School appreciates the action taken by the voters at the recent meeting; as whenever manual training is mentioned, smiles are quite abundant. Word of this advancement has evidently reached Corvallis, as congratulations have been received from a member of our alumni, Albert Shankland.

Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, with the help of the Misses Gladys Townsend and Grace Denny, gave the annual foot-ball banquet at their home last Tuesday night. Sam Barr was elected captain for next season. Only the letter men, Manager Kimmel and the coaches, Irvine and Morton, were present as the domestic science class is to feed the scrubs. The scrubs have the sympathy of all.

To Highest Bidder

With the settlement of the estate of the late Edgar J. Stevens of Estacada, now being handled by C. W. Devore as attorney and R. M. Standish as administrator, there will be placed on the market for sale to the highest bidder, one of the best small 11 1/2 acre farms in this district.

The Stevens property lies within a mile of the business section of Estacada, at the top of the gravelled Wilson Hill road, leading towards Garfield. The place contains one of the best young bearing orchards, 10 years old, in the county and has other improvements.

As Estacada values go, this place should be of interest to anyone looking for a conveniently located, productive small home place at a bargain. For further details, reference can be made to the Administrator's Sale notice now running in the Progress.

Fine Movie Shows

Wednesday night's five reel production of the Magic Skin, an adaptation from Dumas' story, was one the best photo plays ever shown in Estacada. The acting and scenic affects were exceptional and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the hour and half performance.

Next Wednesday night's photo play will be "The Naked Truth," which promises to be an equally good feature.

If the people of Estacada and surrounding country, wish to have regular motion pictures shown here, they will have to patronize these performances more liberally. Manager Sparks is going to a big expense to stage high class multi-reel features, but unless the patronage is better than for the past two weeks, it is likely Estacada will have to get along this winter without this attractive form of amusement.

Apprehensive.

Little Violet had been carefully coached as to the necessity for quietness upon the occasion of her first church attendance. She remembered admirably. Feeling that her behavior was worthy of some audible recognition, she said to her mother at the close of the service:

"Say, mother, I didn't wake anybody up, did I?"—Woman's Home Companion

A Narrow Escape.

"I'll give you a hamburger steak," began the kind lady. "If you'll chop"— Here the man darted out of the yard. "If you chop the meat," she concluded. "Come back if you're hungry. I wouldn't think of asking you to chop wood."—Louisville Courier-Journal

Its Place.

"This isn't the place, you stupid, to secure your accommodation on the steamer. This is the city health department."

"Well, oughtn't I be able to get information here on the berth rate?"—Baltimore American.
