

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

Power and speed were not sacrificed in order to secure a dashing design—nor was the design slighted in order to attain the practical.

The space is extraordinarily large, and the seats are unusually wide, deep and generous.

But, as you will see, these results have not lessened, but enhanced, the beauty of the car.

The motor is 30-35 horsepower

The price of the Touring Car or Roadster complete is $780.

Against Prohibition Appropriation

In announcing his candidacy for the office of District Attorney, on the Republican primary ticket, attorney Wm. M. Stone of Oregon City has pledged himself as against the expenditure of the $3,000 appropriated by the Taxpayers Meeting for the enforcement of the prohibition law, believing the appropriation unnecessary.

Staggers Prevalent

Reports are received from all sections of farm horses being ill and in many cases succumbing to the "staggers" and influenza. Ray Crane of Springwater lost two fine horses this week and several farmers in the Garfield and Currinsville districts have animals that probably will not recover.

The origin of the Wyandottes was quite complicated. Four pure breeds were used as foundation stock and used in the various crosses which finally terminated in a cross named the Silver Wyandotte, which was the first of the Wyandottes. Next came the White Wyandotte as a sport from the Silver Wyandotte. The hen pictured is a White Wyandotte.

Refining Tapioca.

This elegant and delicate starch is the product of a plant that is cultivated very extensively in the Malay peninsula, where its culture is almost entirely in the hands of the Chinese. The tubers of the plant (Manihot utilisima), which weigh on an average from ten to twenty-five pounds, are first scraped and then carefully washed, after which they are reduced to a pulp by being passed between rollers. This pulp is carefully washed and shaken up with abundance of water until the fecula separates and passes through a very fine sieve into a tub placed beneath. The flour so obtained is repeatedly washed and then placed on mats and bleached by exposure to the sun and air. It is finally converted into the pearl tapioca of commerce by being placed in a crude staped frame covered with canvas. It is slightly moistened and subjected to a rotary motion, by which means it is granulated. It is next dried in the sun and finally over the fire in an iron pan greased with vegetable tallow and is then ready for the market.

No Favors to Beauties.

A beautiful young lady approached the ticket window at a Pennsylvania country station and in a voice like the rippling of a brook asked the agent, "What is the fare to the fair?" To which the thick headed agent replied, "Same as to the homely, madam."—Argonaut.

Those who mistake evil for good or good for evil will never attain to bliss.

The Judge's Hint.

A young Irish barrister began his speech to the court in these terms: "The eagle soaring high above the mists of the earth, winning its daring flight against a midday sun, until the contemplation becomes too dazzling for humanity, and mortal eyes gaze after it in vain!" Here the orator was noticed to falter and lose the thread of his speech. He sat down after some vain attempts to regain it. The Judge then said, "The next time, sir, you bring an eagle into court I should recommend you to clip its wings." No doubt the hint was taken.—Westminster Gazette.
