

Suggestions As To Church Financing

The following letter from W. R. Reid, of Garfield, represents the ideas of an experienced business man, on the question of church support and finances.

Mr. Reid's suggestions are right, except that he is overlooking the ever present obstacle of getting someone or more interested church members, to do the soliciting. Soliciting for any work is disagreeable, but the obtaining of church funds is a little harder and unthanked for job, than any.

"Dear Editor:—

Pardon me if I "butt in" on church talk. I have had something to do with church finances and I have found that ministers are expected to pay their grocery bills just the same as other people. Ministers generally are not capitalists. If the church stands for anything why not finance it; pay the minister when his salary is due and have all the other good things that go with the church, music and such things as will help the minister do his work easier and better. Suppose enough people sign a Bankable Bond to secure the payment of $1200.00 in twelve months at the rate of $100.00 per month, each bond man to mark the amount opposite his signature that he is willing to secure. The Bond is placed in the bank, then the church finance committee would send out a subscription paper and solicit from all who are interested in church work, the amount paid in on subscription to be turned into the bank to pay off the bonds, the deficit if any to be paid by the bond men. My plan is to have all church bills paid each month at the bank.

W. R. Reid"

To Lower High Cost of Living

On Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week, the cooking classes of the domestic science department of the Estacada Schools, bake, broil, cook, stew, boil or whatever the process may be, a variety of dainty foods, ranging from bread and puddings, to cakes and macaroni.

Owing to the cost of the ingredients, it has been customary in the past to allow each pupil to merely make up a very small portion of the food, in fact, samples only. These girls are everyone of them good cooks and they can do better work if they can prepare a full sized batch of food at one cooking, but the obstacle of the cost of the raw material has so far interfered.

In order to made it possible hereafter, for the girls to cook in larger quantities, without added expense, arrangements have been made to sell the finished products, at the bare cost of the raw materials.

For instance twice per week, the classes will have for sale, a few full sized loaves of fresh bread, two or three cakes, a couple of puddings and the like.

Parties wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity to buy home made dainties, even better than mother used to compound, at cost prices, should immediately advise the girls of the class, or Miss Shrepel, the domestic science teacher.

All of the food prepared is excellent and under the supervision of the instructor, cleanliness is the first rule and all goods sold are guaranteed to give satisfaction. Leave your order now, and you can find out a half week in advance the good things to be prepared.
