A Few Barton Items

Contributed

The road between Barton and Baker's Bridge, along the north bank of the Clackamas, is open for travel again. A large slide of mud, rock and timber blocked this road soon after the recent snow, forcing travel across the Barton bridge and down on the Logan side of the river.

Geo. Foreman, one of Barton's up-to-date farmers, has purchased a caterpillar tractor and is operating same on the old Foster donation land claim, which he has rented for the season. He reports good success plowing and harrowing, altho the machine is rather unwieldy for small fields.

The Rev. Fee of Portland held a meeting Sunday evening at the Barton schoolhouse, preaching a good sermon to a goodly sized crowd. "Sunday Base Ball" was so harshly criticised by the minister that some of the good brethren were made to feel very uncomfortable.

Spring farm work is progressing rapidly in this section.

Kilgore's Go To Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kilgore of Springwater are leaving for Chicago next week, where they will reside permanently, as Mr. Kilgore expects to enter business there.

Their many friends in this country, while sorry to see them leaving, wish them all kinds of success in their new location.

A farewell entertainment in their honor, will be given next Saturday evening at the Dodge Hall, to which all friends are invited. It will consist of a basket lunch, with cards and dancing.

Parent's Day was celebrated at the Currinsville School, last Friday, Miss Hoss, the teacher, having arranged an interesting program.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bartholomew of Portland were week-end guests at the home of E. E. Saling in Currinsville.

Mrs. Frank McGraw is visiting her son, Bernie Looney of Currinsville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Saling of Currinsville entertained a few Estacada friends at a dinner party last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lang of Portland, accompanied by Miss Wilmot of Minnesota, were the guests at the H. Githens' home in Currinsville for a few days last week.

Fred and Elmer Anderson of Eagle Creek last week purchased a Ford touring car from the Estacada Garage, the local agents.
