J. Kirchem, of Sellwood, was out recently visiting at the home of E. Naylor.

A. W. Cooke and wife were up to see Mrs. Howlett last week.

The people of this neighborhood have recently been bothered by a couple of tramps, who have been wandering around. One just arrived last week, but the other has been a frequent visitor at different homes during the winter. The one coming last week likes to eat—he will eat two or three times in an afternoon if he has the opportunity. The people wish they would travel on and not return.

Roy and Carl Douglass went to Springwater on Tuesday after some grain.

Mrs. A. W. Cooke, accompanied by her son, W. W. Cooke, came to her mother's, Mrs. Howlett, on Monday and will stay with her for a few days.

Estacadian Before The Footlights

Before the Portland Press Club tonight, will be presented a five act Indian play, illustrating the life of the Indian as the pioneers found him, the latter phase of Indian nature being depicted.

The play, costumes and music are the work of a Mrs. L. B. Downey-Bartlett and are descriptive of the different tribal ceremonies which formerly existed among the Indians.

The leading members in the cast are William Underwood of Estacada and his brother Corbett of Underwood, Wash., who take the parts of Chiefs White Cloud and Great Bear.

Few of Bill's friends ever suspected him of harboring histrionic ambitions, but let the girls and ladies beware, for if Bill ever gets to be a matinee idol, he will sure break up some hearts, for not even the legendary Hiawatha in his palmy days, was as handsome a looking buck as Bill Underwood, and brother Corbett will do his share towards presenting the stolid Indian of history as a good looking, clean cut youth.

As soon as the bill boards advertise an advance date for Bill's further appearance, the Estacada crowd is going to hire a special car and with the band playing, "I Never Rased My Son to Be an Actor" is going to buy up the front rows.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank my many friends for the help and sympathy extended to me in the recent illness and death of my beloved husband.

Editor News:

My Dear Bob—

For several weeks the residents of Springwater have been unable to get telephone connections with Estacada owing to the condition of the cable running under the railway tracks. Most of this winter our service has been very poor for the same reason. I am reliably informed that the Estacada Telephone Co. has this cable but simply neglects putting it in. Can you just insert this in your paper as a suggestion to your merchants that they exert a pressure on the Telephone Co. or Brother Sparks to get this cable in as promptly as they send in their bills. S. W. Kilgore.

The Springwater Grange will meet next Saturday, when the new lecture contest begins.

Services will be held at the Springwater Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning, the topic of the sermon being "Christ against the Devil". Evening services will be held at Eagle Creek and Christian Endeavor meetings will occur at 7 P. M. at both churches.
