

Sandy After Autoists And State Aid

Some of the hustling members of the Sandy Commercial Club are going out after business, at present arranging to induce automobile travel along their Bluff Road, on the way from Portland to Mt. Hood. At the suggestion of Pres. Meinig, road markers and signs are to be installed along the road, inviting travel thru Sandy.

A delegation made the trip last week to Salem, where unsuccessful attempts were made to obtain state aid for the construction of the Bluff Road.

For The Leap Year Girl

At a recent dinner given by the Garfield Dorcas Society, in honor of the "Young Ladies of Miss Satterlee's Seminary" the following original and clever advice, was given to the girls by Mrs. A. W. Botkin:—

Here's to the girl who leaves nothing to chance,
From sewing on buttons, to attending a dance.

In this Leap Year, nineteen sixteen,

Her opportunity's readily seen.
The reluctant youth, she can easily win,

If she'll do it—it's simple as sin—
Just lift your big eyes, and apply some nerve

And beg him for you, a life venture to serve.

He's so "unprepared" our President has said,

He'll immediately promise, dear maiden, to wed.

So here's to the Leap Year girl my friends

May she never have cause to weep—

But, my advice to her will be,
"Look before you leap!

R. H. Currin of Currinsville, returned Saturday from Salem, where he spent four days at the home of his mother, Mrs. L. E. Marris, who is ill.

An informal dancing party was held at the C. I. C. room last Saturday evening, about fifteen couples participating.

Mrs. Maud Dittebrandt of Portland, spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Bartlett of Estacada.

J. C. Daus of Garfield, while not actually handing out cigars, is proudly calling attention to the fact that he is a grandfather and that his son, Carl Daus of Mau-pin, Or., is the proud father of a bouncing boy, born March 7th.

Mrs. Elizabeth Davis and Miss Mamie Edwards of Portland, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Daus of Garfield.

What The Public Wants To Know

By O. W. Eastham
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE for
DISTRICT ATTORNEY

The community is not really interested in the office-seeker's "glad hand" or his well arranged line of "bunk".

The public wants an answer to two questions:

- (1) Is he ABLE to "deliver the goods".
- (2) Is he DETERMINED, IN DEAD EARNEST, to "deliver the goods".

What does a candidate for the REPUBLICAN NOMINATION mean in saying "IT MAY BE NECESSARY TO HAVE SPECIAL COUNCIL TO HELP OUT" (Letter to the Enterprise, dated Jan. 29). Does he mean that he may not be ABLE to "deliver the goods", or does he mean to place his O K on the employment of special council to assist the present District Attorney — one single fee that I know of being $250.

What does the same candidate mean (same letter) in saying, "IT MAY BE NECESSARY TO EXPEND SEVERAL HUNDRED DOLLARS A YEAR FOR THE PURPOSE OF HIRING DETECTIVES". Does he mean that the Sheriff and his force of deputies may not do the work the County pays them to do, or does he mean to place his O K on the Levings job, APPROVED BY THE PRESENT DISTRICT ATTORNEY, which cost the County about $2500. Indeed the County has had some detective experience and OREGON CITY HAS HAD SOME.

My statement, published two weeks ago, was; "This year, as a fair estimate, the office will cost between $5000 and $6000. The amount should be $2100 and no more". The present District Attorney HAS NOW CHALLENGED THAT STATEMENT.

I said that "THE EXPENSE OF THE OFFICE WILL BE JUST $2100 IF I AM ON THE JOB". No loophole there for "EXPENSE OF SPECIAL COUNCIL" or "HIRE OF DETECTIVES". No chance to arrive at the same old $5000 result under a different system of book-keeping.

O. A. C. Approves Local Clubs

In a recent O. A. C. Bulletin, which is read by thousands of people throughout the Northwest, the Eastern Clackamas News, (then the Estacada Progress) was quoted in connection with the election of the officers of the George Commercial & Social Club. The Bulletin says:

"The George Club, like its neighbor society, the Garfield Country Club, is one of the few real live, progressive, country associations that provide help for their members, recreation for their young people, and social culture for the entire community."

96 Hogs Take Their Last Ride

In order to relieve the local farmers of their supply of hogs, which buyers Lucke and Kerkes were unable to handle now, Walt Givens of Estacada, made his initial debut as a livestock buyer last Saturday and Sunday, with a 96 hog carload shipment on Monday.

The exigencies of the situation were so urgent, that Walt even did a little Sunday buying, but by breaking a few speed ordinances, was able to be back in time for church service.

Another carload will be shipped from the Estacada yards Friday the 17th and if the regular buyers cannot find time to buy the swine, Walt and his Ford will cover the field again. Notify Givens, if you have stock for sale.

According to the Portland Livestock Reporter of Monday, hog prices had reached the highest mark recorded for many months past, with a few extra fine tops bringing $9.00 with market good at $8.60.

It almost seems as though the livestock growers of this community are making a mistake by not attempting cooperative shipments now, for it is a good time to try it out and it is proving profitable elsewhere.

Chas Kandle of Cloverdale, is spending a few days in Estacada and Springwater, where he is helping to renovate the orchard on the old home place, now occupied by R. D. Tracy. Charley has been working in a Washington lumber camp for the past few months, but will return to Cloverdale, where he will join with his father in conducting their big dairy ranch.

Bills are already out, announcing a Colored Minstrel Troupe show at the Logan Grange Hall, Saturday evening, April 8th, with a dance following the show. The entertainment is being given under the auspices of the Logan Base Ball Team.

Contractor L. H. Burd is building a barn for J. W. Reed of Estacada, on his ranch on the banks of the Clackamas below Currinsville.
