

A Just Complaint

The following suggestion and complaint, were lodged last Saturday by A. C. Anderson, one of the leading farmers of Upper Garfield and as it is not the first similar complaint that has come to the attention of the News, the business men of Estacada should take some action to correct the evil.

Mr. Anderson came to town Saturday to spend his money with the home merchants. He was forced to tie his team and wagon on Zobrist St., while he did his buying, owing to lack of municipal hitching facilities, but in the mean time had loaded on a goodly supply of livestock feed.

After an absence of a half hour, on returning to the wagon, he discovered that some of the towns horses and cows had made a good, full, square meal from his supply of feed, besides having sampled everything from groceries to hardware.

"Andy" was mad, and he had every reason to be, but was reasonable enough to suggest that all livestock at large be kept on the flat above town and not allowed to wander about the business district.

How much longer are the merchants of Estacada going to allow this condition of affairs to continue? They cannot blame anyone but themselves if the dollar that should be spent at home, goes elsewhere.

Bard Buys At Scappoose Sale

In accordance with the tendency in this community to confine the livestock raising along lines of thoroughbred registered stock, Will Bard and Everett Shibley of Springwater, Thursday motored to Scappoose, where they attended the Harry West sale of registered Jerseys.

Bard purchased a young thoroughbred, registered Jersey bull, which will replace an older registered thoroughbred.

Last Saturday in Portland, there was formed the Columbia Jersey Cattle Club, comprising the counties of Multnomah, Clackamas, Columbia and Clatsop counties. If this organization flourishes, as it will, it is probable that several of the local Jersey enthusiasts will become members.

Signet Rings

Probably any jeweler can buy and sell jewelry, but it remains for Estacada's purveyor of watches, rings and the like, to design and manufacture his own rings suited to the local trade.

Mr. Beckwith recently designed and executed several different styles of signet or initial "E. H. S." rings, which are the envy of the high school students.

Estadians Visit George Club

At last Saturday evening's meeting of the George Commercial & Social Club, Messrs. E. W. Bartlett and Frank Ewing of Estacada, were not only visitors, but appeared on the program.

Mr. Bartlett, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for District Attorney, spoke in favor of the Eastern Clackamas Taxpayers' League, explaining the work of that organization and the value of having all residents become working members.

Mr. Ewing, who is in charge of the P. R. L. & P. Co.'s agricultural work, presented his proposition through the medium of Pres. Stephens of the club, who outlined the work now underway and in view.

"Doctors Disagree"

On the evening of April 22nd, at the Garfield Grange Hall, the Garfield Band boys will give a clever comedy, entitled, "Doctors Disagree", the proceeds of which will go towards the expenses of the organization.

Under date of April 7th, a licence was issued at Vancouver, for the marriage of Miss Ella Fanton of Estacada, age 17 and Jas. T. Lovegrove of Portland, age 29.

Ken Bartlett of the University of Oregon, is in Estacada this week, spending his spring vacation.

One of the county's steam rollers last week, while at work near Canemah, got off the highway and rolled down a 200 foot embankment, but was none the worse for the accident, excepting for a few bent parts. Bob Mattoon of Estacada, acting engineer, jumped in time to miss the fall.

The spring jury list, drawn last week for service in the Circuit Court, beginning next Monday, comprises but one local man, being Ben Rawlins of Upper Garfield.

After investigating the Estacada school's play shed, the school board of Oswego is now expending six or eight hundred dollars in the erection of similar facilities.
