To heal the breaches and jealousies which for years have existed among the various communities of this part of the county and towards which many efforts have been directed—hats will have to be taken off to BASEBALL, with the Estacada baseball team, made up of Eastern Clackamas players, drawing together the people of all sections and all rooting for the home team.

Now Molalla is anticipating the early erection in that town, of a sugar beet factory, with its subsequent big payroll and acreage of profitable produce.

Estacada is going to have a cannery for which it is truly thankful, but we ought to get other industries at this opening up of boom times. Where is a commercial club to handle this work?

The Estacada City Council is often asked why they don't take some legal action in enforcing certain local property owners to rebuild or at least repair their rotted plank sidewalks.

It is a shame that legal action should have to be contemplated in a matter which should be handled by civic pride, but some of the property owners seem to know that the necessary legal procedure which must be gone through by the city fathers, is too expensive and occupies too long a time, to be effective in the forcing of repairs on each individual property.

One of the councilmen and a number of other pedestrians recently took a fall, while traversing that disreputable strip of so called sidewalks, between 5th and 6th on Main St., and "something will be doing" at the next council meeting surely.

Often we fail to notice the beauties and attractions in our own home town and the same applies to our defects, but it remains for the visitor or transient to call attention to our attractions and eye sores.

Estacada's main attraction and source of compliments, is the Estacada Hotel with its perfectly kept grounds.

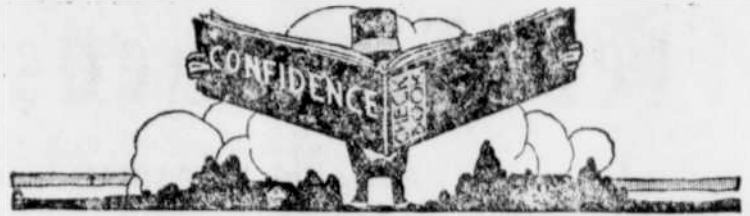

The hotel lawn is now as fine as a city park's, with the shrubbery and roses coming into bloom. If more people knew of the beauty and restfulness of this resort, it would prove an even greater drawing card for Estacada.

Despite the attractiveness of the hotel, the town's visitors coming in on the trains, are still met by that standing eye-sore along the Terrace Addition flat, with the rear of the livery barns and wood working plant, a mass of refuse, timbers and weeds. Let's get together and emulate the Hotel Estacada and its grounds, on both private and public property.

While the right to vote is the privilege of all legal voters, it is equally the duty of every voter, whether male or female to exercise that right.

Occasionally one will hear a voter remark, that he or she does not know enough about the respective candidates and issues, to vote intelligently. Possibly it is better for that voter to refrain from using the ballot, but there is no excuse for voters not familiarizing themselves with the issues and candidates. As the basis of our government with its liberty, is directly coupled with a sensible use of the ballot, every legal voter should take time, if necessary, to intelligently cast a ballot.

A Change In Policy Money Talks

Financial conditions, over which we have no control, necessitate a radical change in our business methods and demand that we get down to a CASH BASIS; OUR BILLS are due AND MUST BE PAID every 30 days and if we fail to collect our accounts within that time we are unable to settle with our creditors and it would be only a matter of time until a firm, with a limited amount of capital, would be forced out of business.

After June 1st the following rules will be in effect;

ALL ACCOUNTS owing the firm on June 1st are due and must be PAID IN FULL by the 15th of the month; (Bankable notes payable 60 days, will be accepted in cases where it is not possible to pay cash). On accounts NOT PAID by the 15th, credit will be discontinued and the account closed until such time as settlement is made. All accounts NOT paid by this time will be placed for collection after a reasonable time has expired.

CHARGE ACCOUNTS will be carried until the 15th of the month following the purchase, but NO LONGER and within this time will be treated the same as cash. No deviation will be made from this rule.

Statements will be rendered after the 1st of each month showing your account to that time.

It will be our aim to make our prices such that you will readily see the benefit derived from paying cash and see that we are not trying to work any hardship upon you but rather making it a matter of saving. Prices will be so adjusted that we are confident you will be more than pleased; Come in; bring your $ and see what it will buy from us; try out our new policy and see just what it means to you in dollars and cents and if you are not convinced that it is the best way, the old system is always open for you to go back to.

This is a CIRCULAR LETTER and is being sent to all our patrons and we trust that none will take offense as we are compelled to place our business upon a solid basis and by your co-operation we feel sure that we can build up a business that will be of mutual and lasting benefit and a credit to the community.

Yours for a better and sounder business,

L. A. CHAPMAN
