

Clackamas Seventh In Grant Land List

In the 17 valley counties, Clackamas ranks seventh in amount of money to be received ultimately from the sale of Oregon & California grant land. The total amount received by all the counties is $11,000,000 and the money will be used in the upbuilding of roads within their border or for the construction of roads.

The disposition of the fund, as it comes into the possession of the different counties from land sales, is left to the county courts, under the terms of the bill just passed by congress. The courts, in other words, have the power to say whether the funds or the income from them shall be spent for port construction or maintenance, for roads, or whether the fund shall be invested and the interest derived therefrom used as a continuing appropriation for the benefit of port and road construction and maintenance.

The amount to be received by each of the 17 counties will be large or small in proportion to the number of acres of grant land yet remaining unsold in each county.—Oregon City Enterprise.

Picture Show Changes Days

Beginning with Thursday evening, June 22nd, manager Sparks of the Estacada Family Theatre announces that shows will be given on the evenings of Thursdays and Saturdays of each week, instead of Wednesdays and Saturdays as formerly.

At the request of many people who did not witness the former film "Excuse Me", Mr. Sparks has arranged to feature it a second time, on the evening of June 22nd. This is one of the best farces ever produced.

As the productions shown at the local theatre twice a week now are the same as are shown at Portland's best theatres a few weeks previous, larger crowds are attending the local shows.

Family Reunion

A regular old fashioned, enjoyable family reunion was held last week at the homes of E. E. and C. C. Saling of Currinsville, with the majority of the relatives on both sides of the family present. In the case of the Saling brothers, who married sisters, it is a slightly easier matter to bring about a family reunion, than in the usual case of two brothers, each marrying into separate families.

Among the guests were C. H. Bartholomew and family and Mrs. Mary Bartholomew and family of Glenwood, Washington; W. I. Bartholomew of Portland and Fred C. Bartholomew of Estacada; one brother H. E. Bartholomew being unable to attend.

As Mrs. Artemesia Saling, the aged mother of C. C. and E. E. Saling is living in Currinsville too, it added materially to the enjoyment of the affair.

The Currinsville school closed on June 2nd. A picnic was held as a final celebration. The following six pupils received prizes for being on the honor roll all year: Mary Ely, Lydia and Walter Matson, Ralph Wade, Irene Saling and Erma Jones. Miss H. Hoss has been secured for teacher next fall.

H. P. Jochimsen of Estacada, local agent for the Maxwell auto, this week made a trip over the Columbia Highway to Hood River, accompanied by his brother, E. W. Jochimsen and family of Springwater.

H. C. Heiple of Currinsville is now touring the country in his new Ford car.

The Priscilla Club of Currinsville held their last regular meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Saling.

Backs Car Through Fence

Some of Eagle Creek's contingent of jokers are this week having the laugh on Lou Baker, the genial blacksmith, who last week drove his auto almost to the top of the Forrester Hill, before discovering that his gas tank was empty.

At this critical stage of the ascent, Lou decided to do the "gravity turn" which consists of slowly letting the car back down hill under gravity power, in the meantime turning the car around and sailing back to level terra-firma according to the laws of gravitation.

Now that was what Lou expected to do, according to the Eagle Creek correspondent, but in reality he pulled off one of those hair-raising, death defying, awe-inspiring, thrilling "dips of death" or "looping the fence-post acts" and successfully at that, after traversing about one hundred feet of cross country and demolishing a length or two of fence.

Correspondent further deposes and says that neither the driver nor his wife were hurt and the car refused to turn turtle and when brought to a stop was in perfect running order.

With a little practise, it is hoped that Mr. Baker will stage this thriller at the coming July 4th celebration at Estacada.

Wait Till "Boz" Presents The Bill

Dr. and Mrs. Lee A. Wells of Estacada, have this week returned to the stern realities of life, having pleasantly spent their honeymoon at Log La Barre, after a brief inspection enroute from Currinsville to Log La Barre, of their newly built bungalow on Terrace Addition.

During said inspection, purely in order to make it possible for Mrs. Wells to see more of the architectural beauties of the new home, hubby turned on all the electric lights in the house and forgot to turn them off. Contractor Misener discovered the meter buzzing merrily and expensively the following morning and the Doctor has gone back to work, in hopes he may get together a sufficient quantity of the filthy mazuma to offset the eventful day of Boswell's arrival with the little blue slip, which like death and taxes always pursues us.

At Work At Fabens, Texas

Cecil Schock and Noble McMillan of Estacada, are now located at Fabens, Texas, where they are employed in the government Reclamation Service.

Aside from extreme heat, dust storms and no rain, the boys like their new location almost as well as Estacada, but inasmuch as a fat pay check comes around each month, they intend to stick it out for a while at least.

Ken Bartlett and Albert Shankland, who have been attending the University of Oregon and Oregon Agricultural College, respectively, have returned to their homes for the summer vacation.

The Estacada Garage this week report the sale of a Ford car to Henry Heiple of Currinsville and the delivery of an Oakland machine to G. H. Lichthorn of Estacada.
