L. H. Burd of Garfield, returned this week from Bend, Oregon, where has been employed for several weeks in construction work. Mr. Burd is enthusiastic over the boom times at Bend and contemplates returning there about July 6th.

Little Bennie Musa of Boring, who was brought to Estacada last week, suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis, was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland, where an operation was performed, with the youngster reported well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Laury of the Hotel Estacada, after a two weeks vacation in California, returned home the 30th. During their trip, they saw no signs of rain and are of the opinion that the Oregon climate is good enough for them.

Miss Bessie Abbott of Pentton, B. C. is visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Barlett of Estacada.

WHY SKIMMILK IS A GOOD CALF FEED

The reason milk is of such high food value is because it contains all of the ingredients necessary for the nourishment and development of the body. writes a correspondent of the Iowa Homestead. Water, as is known, is a great essential in nourishment. The next ingredients in milk of as great import as food are casein and albumen. These nourish and build up the muscles, hide and hair of the animal. The ash in the milk aids in the building of bone.

It will be observed that in normal milk the albumen content is 3 per cent of the whole and fat about equal. Albumen is the greatest essential in the nourishment of the young and growing animals and fat is of comparatively little value at this stage of the calf's existence. Nature, in recognizing this feature, provided for the emergency by a special, prepared food for the young calf immediately upon its birth. This food is found in the milk given immediately by the cow upon the birth of the calf. This milk is called colostrum milk and is of a very high albumen content and a low fat content and thus nature provides for a very essential factor in the nourishment of the young calf. The albumen content of the colostrum milk is 15.85 per cent, while the fat content is but 3.37 per cent. As the stage of lactation period advances and the young calf has grown and developed, the fat content increases and the albumen content decreases until the normal constituency is reached.

With these facts at hand it can be readily understood why skimmilk is as good as whole milk for calves. In the separation of milk no constituent is withdrawn except the fat. For this reason, all the necessary elements for the young growing animal remain behind in the skimmilk. Thus we have as good a calf as that which nature originally provided. Under these conditions it is possible to separate the fat from the milk, sell it at the creamery for a goodly 23 or 25 cents per pound, and there still remains in the skimmilk a food containing all the constituents necessary for the growth and development of the young animal.

Light Reading.

"Do you read much?" she asked of him.

"A great deal," he replied. "But it's mostly light reading."

And when some one told her that he read gas meters for a living she gnashed her teeth in wild indignation.—London Telegraph
