BERT H. FINCH Estacada, Oregon

S. E. Wooster, the Estacada real-estate and insurance agent, has recently completed negotiations, whereby he is now the local representative of the Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance Company, which is one of the oldest established insurance companies in the world.

The Anti-Saloon League will hold services in the Springwater Church next Sunday at 11 o'clock and in the evening at the Eagle Creek Church. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Morrow of Portland spent the week-end at the home of her brother, C. M. Sparks of Estacada. Mr. Morrow returned home Monday with Mrs. Morrow following the latter part of the week.

During the absence of Dave Eschleman, who with his family are enjoying a week's outing, the Estacada barber shop is temporarily in charge of a Portland barber.

About 200

Celebrate Annual Ford Picnic

About two hundred local people participated in the annual Ford picnic, as guests of J. W. Reed of the Estacada Garage, which was held at Eagle Creek on the Columbia Highway last Thursday.

Barring a few minor accidents to machines and occupants, the affair was an enjoyable one, with the best of weather conditions for the viewing of the grand scenery.

Picnic dinners were taken by all, to which were added coffee and other good things by the genial host. The picnic dinner was held in the Eagle Creek park, a quarter mile back from the main highway soon after noon.

Two minor accidents occurred, one happening to Edwin Bates of Estacada, when his hand was badly cut by a back-fire of his engine, with the crank gashing a nasty wound across the back of his right hand. The other, which might have been serious but for a prompt rescue, was when the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilcox of Garfield fell from a foot bridge into the swift waters of the creek.

The tourists while going, were held up near Bonneville for a short time on account of road work ahead, but this delay made it possible for the slow cars and drivers to catch up with the main procession, which then proceeded to the picnic grounds.

The return trip was started about 2:30 o'clock, most of the cars arriving home in time for six o'clock supper, although a few straggled in later, having suffered engine, tire or anyone of the thousand and one troubles which will occasionally happen to a machine. One car was towed in, while another met the returning cars while on its way down, but despite the little mishaps, everyone had a good time and are thanking their popular host, J. W. Reed for a pleasant day's outing.

Tracy School Board Resigns

As a culmination of the division of sentiment among the taxpayers in the Tracy School district in Garfield, over the question of schooling the children at the Estacada Public Schools, two members of the board last week resigned and a third member is considering the same action.

The members resigning being, Mrs. A. W. Botkin and W. W. Dillon, whose places have been filled by the election of Hass Tracy and Thos Beebe.

According to the rulings of County School Superintendent Calavan, the resignation of the school board with the impromptu election of their successors, is not legal and the former directors will have to remain in their official capacities, until a duly advertised, legal election can be held.

Another large prune dryer is nearing completion in Garfield, being built by the Crawford brothers. This dryer, while at present being a three tunnel one, will ultimately accomodate six tunnels and handle the prune crop from a large acreage.

Harry Robinson of Garfield, while repairing a bridge in that road district last week, had a plank give way under him, precipitating him onto the rocky bed of the creek below, suffering a severely sprained ankle joint, with minor dislocation of the bones.
