

Heard On The Rural Phone

"Hello! Is that you Florence?"

"Yes, is that you Mary?"

"Say Florence, I got two big boilers full of blackberries on the stove now and wanted to find out what kind of fruit jars those were that you have with the big mouths?"

"Why, those are those wide-mouthed Ball Mason Jars, that I bought of Givens. I forget just what I paid for 'em, but they were cheap priced and I'm going down now, soon as Bill gets harnessed up, and buy some more. I'll get you some if you want me to. You know we buy everything at Givens and I got on hand now over $61. worth of those 2% cash discount tickets. You say you want me to get you a couple dozen? Oh, that's alright about the cash, I'll pay it and get you the discount tickets."

"Say, Mary—speaking of Givens, did you hear that he tried to knock a Southern Pacific train off the track in Portland the other day with his automobile. He had quite a smash-up, but nobody got hurt. He's a Holy Terror with that machine of his and 'll get killed one of these days yet."

"By the way Florence, are you and Bill going to the Garfield Grange Hall lecture Friday night? We're going and they say it will be a dandy and the lecturer is awful good looking. Oh gee! I got to ring off, my berries is boiling over, but you be sure and bring me up those Mason Fruit Jars from Givens and you better bring along a sack of that Dements Flour, 50 pounds of sugar, two-bits of yeast—never mind any more, I'll get the rest when I go to Estacada—dont forget my 2% discount tickets. Good bye."
