

Heard On The Rural Phone

"Hello Ruth, this is Helen", I just came back from Estacada and I left your order at Givens store and he will quote you prices by mail, as he was so busy this morning in a board meeting of the East Clackamas County Fair that I couldn't get to talk to him".

"Well say Helen, what do you think about that baby show that they are to have during the fair".

"I think its fine but you dont need to think that you will get the prize because my baby is better looking than yours and you know it".

"I dont know any such a thing and I am perfectly willing to leave it to the judges".

"By the way, lets all plan to go down to Canby on the 20th, to East Clackamas County Day, they say they are going to have a great time on that day".

"Are you folks going to exhibit at the East Clackamas Fair"?

"Well I should say we are. I went down to Givens store some time ago and bought my fruit jars and I am going to try for first prize under that canning contest thats listed on page 23 of the Fair Bulletin No. 202. Just think the first prize is $12.00 and then Givens refunds the price of the Fruit Jars providing they were bought of him, and there is no use of buying them any other place for you cant beat his price. If you havent one of the fair bulletins it will pay you to get one for they are free for the asking".

"I've got pretty nearly Thirty Dollars worth of those 2% discount tickets that Givens gives with cash purchases, and by the time I get my winters supply of Groceries and Flour I'll have more than Fifty Dollars worth. I'll tell you it pays to take advantage of that discount, and John says what ever the discount amounts to is all the money that me and the kids can have for the fair, but that will be enough to take us in alright".

"Well I smell my bread burning and so I'll have to run along. Call me up again some time".

Reception To Teachers

All are cordially invited to join in the welcoming reception to the teachers of the Estacada Schools Friday evening, Sept. 15th, in the school play shed.

A short program followed by an informal reception will constitute the evening's entertainment.

R. F. Baker of Ellensburg, Wash. has been engaged to teach history, science and athletics in the local high school in place of instructor Seward of Jefferson City, Mo. who after being hired, resigned. Mr. Baker, who is a U. of W. man comes well recommended for the work.

afternoon at the same hour, Springwater and Eagle Creek will play, with the winners of the two games, playing off for the championship on Friday morning, at 10 o'clock; as at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, the Estacada High School football team expects to play the Franklin High School eleven of Portland.

Baseballs and such paraphernalia as belong to the Estacada baseball team will be furnished the players and the prizes will be well worth fighting for.

Attention is also called to Wednesday next, Sept. 20th, which is to be East Clackamas Day at the County Fair at Canby and it is hoped that many local people will spend that day at Canby and help boost for this best part of Clackamas County.

Miss Rachel Reed of Estacada left Sunday for Seattle, where she will continue her studies at the University of Washington.

Born—Friday, September, 8th to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Horner of Springwater, a daughter

Lee Wills of Fairview, who formerly resided in Garfield was last week badly injured by being run over by a motorcycle, resulting in a broken leg and other injuries, necessitating his removal to a Portland hospital.

Real Estate Active

Through the agency of S. E. Wooster, the Estacada real estate man, last week, twelve acres of the Glenmorrow tract, belonging to F. A. Watson of Portland was sold to R. S. Coop of Currinsville, the deal being a cash one. As the property lies adjacent to the Coop farm, it will be a valuable addition.

Wandering Boy Returns

Joy, rejoicing and joyfulness reigned in the Jerry Jones' office in Estacada one day last week, when word was received by the anxious father, that his wandering boy Lewis had returned.

Lewis, of E. H. S. fame, who has been in the forestry service under Forester Wallace, was last week dispatched up Pike's Peak to round-up, corral or catch one strayed pack horse, which had wandered from the Bagsby Springs camp.

Lewis started out over a bedimmed deer trail, shedding his wool shirt and coat along the way, to be gathered on the return trip. The return trip occurred about twelve rainy hours later, after the hunter and hunted had spent a dreary night, lost, alone, foodless and scantily clad in the drizzling, dripping underbrush of a mountain canyon, tenderly nursing a dampened, one flicker fire.
