

GET IN LINE

Protect your home industry by lending your support in helping us fill our large orders for the 1917 season.

Refused orders for berries for next summers delivery aggregate more than 10 cars at this early date. Are you going to allow this condition to exist?

Our success and ability to stay in the game, depends greatly upon your co-operation, and developments.

Several years ago the fact seemed apparent that a cannery was needed. We are earnestly trying to fill this need. What part are you taking?

Profits have averaged over $100 per acre in berries, one grower cleared $75 on 1/4 acre patch. You have this same opportunity before you. Realize On It.

Endeavor to get a field ready for this spring for fruits or vegetables. We will contract now for 5 or 10 years in advance. Our prices are higher on the average than any other factory on the coast.

Respond to this call, now, why wait? Ask for our fruit and vegetable list. Get in touch with us by phone or postal.

Church Driveway

Work is now well underway in the construction of a driveway leading from the Main St. hill in Estacada into the grounds of the M. E. Church.

The work is being done largely by volunteer labor in charge of Rev. Spiess. The grading is now partly completed, several trees having been felled and with the aid of the city, the connecting roadway from the street will soon be built.

Tars Hold Reunion

About five years ago, two Estacada boys, Walter Woodard and Elvie Morrow joined the U. S. Navy.

For a short time thereafter the boys were stationed on the same ship, but for the past four or five years their duties had separated them into the farthest corners of the world.

This week, at the Morrow home in Estacada, the two held a reunion and discussed pro and con the U. S. Navy from stockhole to the admiral's bridge.

Miss Irma Graham, who is attending the U. of W. at Seattle, returned to her home in Estacada last week, where she will remain until the opening of school. Her brother, Guy Graham, who is in business in Seattle, also joined the family reunion. Guy contemplates leaving this week for Pasadena, where he will witness the U. of O. - Pennsylvania football game on New Years Day.

The Ruggleses in our Alley.

The pupils of the Currinsville School, under the direction of Miss Hoss, the teacher, gave a Christmas program Friday afternoon, which met with such hearty applause, that it was repeated Saturday evening at the Estacada M. E. Church Christmas entertainment.

The feature of the program was the playlet, taken from the Bird's Christmas Carol, called Ruggle's Christmas.

Miss M. Gertrude Jones of Salem, formerly a member of the E. H. S. faculty, spent a few days this week as the guest of Mrs. Wm. Kuhrasche of Estacada.

The new house on the John Trachsel place near Viola is fast nearing completion and when finished will represent another of the handsome farm homes of this community.

Fred Hoffmeister of Eagle Creek was reported last week to have shot a coyote and shipped a load of turkeys to the Portland market. While undoubtedly the killing of the coyote, guaranteed more turkeys for shipment, it would have been well to have shipped the coyote too, as it might have been welcome these days of high cost of living.

O. W. Failing of Garfield spent the holidays with his folks in Portland.
