Dover Doings (Contributed)

Rev. Miner, the pastor, was unable to make his appointment here Sunday, on account of having to conduct a funeral service at Sandy.

Guy Woodle and Orval Evans, both of Dover, purchased a restaurant in Portland, which they now have in running order.

Guy Woodle will work in the ship yards at Portland.

Dufer Cooper who has been working for Captain Exon, will leave here the first of the week to enlist in the United States Navy.

Several from Dover attended the Quarterly Conference at Sandy. They enjoyed the sermons by Dr. Ford, the District Supt. and Rev. Spiess of Estacada.

Joseph DeShazer sent a load of pork to Portland Wednesday.

The Dover people, were surprised on Sunday Morning, to hear of the fire in Sandy which completely destroyed the Mercantile store and badly scorched the Bank and Hotel. The fire broke out about 11:30 Saturday night.

Faalty of Partners.

A member of the New York supreme court, reproving a New York firm of architects for cancelling an agreement, says, "Authorities unanimously agree that there is scarcely any relation in life which calls for more absolute good faith than the relation of partners." Also, "A purer and more elevated morality is demanded of partners than the common morality of the trade." The meaning is that an individual who transacts business for himself may look out solely for himself, while a partner must never consider his own advantage apart from that of his associates.—Exchange.

Versatile.

"Do you know," she simpered, "you are the first real actor I ever met. It must be extremely interesting to act the parts created by the master dramatists like Shakespeare and"—
"Now you're talkin', kid," he broke in. "I just eat that Shakespeare stuff alive. Why, I played in Shakespeare's 'East Lynne' for two whole seasons, and part of the time I played a horn in the orchestra."—New York World.
