CAPRI, A TWIN HUMPED CAMEL

Island Richly Dowered For Artist, Historian and Geologist.

Capri, a great twin humped camel of an island, kneels in the blue just off the Sorrentine peninsula. From the sway backed huddle of white, pink, blue, cream and drab houses along the large harbor up the breakneck road to the fascinating town nestled among the hills, white roofed and Moorish, and on, still higher, by the winding road or up the nearly perpendicular flights of rock stairs which follow the frowning crag with their sharp, zigzag outlines to Anacapri, 500 feet or so above, every step of the way breathes the pride and splendor and degradation of the island's greater days.

Here a cyclopean mass of shattered masonry in the warm emerald water tells of a Roman emperor's bath, yonder on a chimney-like cliff the sinister ruins of a stout castle keep whispers of ancient garrisons and pirates not armed with automatic rifles or high powered artillery, and here, overlooking the sea, the vast ruins of a villa recall "that hairy old goat" Tiberius and his wastral voluptuousness that turned fair Capri into satyrdom.

Capri today is richly dowered for sightseer, artist, historian, antiquary and geologist. On every hand are shaded walks and sequestered bowers in the thick groves of orange and lemon, laurel and myrtle, wild backgrounds of tumbled rock, titanic rifts in the coast into which the sea has thrust long, insidious blue fingers.—National Geographic Magazine.

An American Golf Club of 1794.

It may come as a surprise to golf players to know how long ago, almost a century and a quarter, the royal game was enjoyed by Charlestonians. In making research through the files of the South Carolina Gazette recently I came upon the following notice, which I send as a contribution to our golfing records:

City Gazette and Daily Advertiser.
 Saturday, November 15, 1794.
 Golf Club.

This being the anniversary of the South Carolina Golf Club, the members are requested to attend at Williams's Coffee House, in lieu of Charleston's Green, on account of the bad weather.

Dinner on table at 3 o'clock.
 By order of the president.

EDWIN GAIRDNER, Secretary.
 —Charleston News and Courier.

A team of horses belonging to Tom Beebe of Garfield, Wednesday morning took fright at a passing dog and joined in a runaway, covering about a quarter mile, with a spike-toothed harrow dragging behind. Aside from a few cuts and bruises to the animals and a badly damaged harness, no serious harm was done.

Will Dale of Estacada, who last week graduated from the Pacific Dental College, is this week taking the state examinations, preparatory to enlisting in the Army Dental corps.

Ken Bartlett of Estacada, who recently joined a hospital corps unit at Eugene and expects to see actual service in France within a few months, is expected in Estacada this week, where he will remain until his corps is ordered to Pennsylvania, where preliminary training will take place.

A. G. Ames of Estacada, who is now the Federal Hunter in this district, returned to Estacada recently from the Oak Grove Ranger Station, reporting the killing of three bob-cats and the setting of many traps for larger predatory animals. Ames expects to return to the mountains in a few days, taking with him a large supply of bear and wolf traps.

Mrs. Mary Hill, who for the past few months has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. D. Wright of Estacada, left Wednesday, for her home at Denio, Oregon.
