Eagle Creek Notes

Contributed

Walter Douglass, the road supervisor, is having some work done on the road down near Goose Creek.

Eagle Creek Grange held its regular meeting last Saturday. Owing to the busy times only seventeen being present. A short but interesting meeting was held in the afternoon. The Worthy Master, F. W. Bates, and wife, having gone to the State Grange which convened at Astoria last week, were absent.

Mrs. Walter Douglass was taken to Portland last week where she is taking chiropractic treatments. At the last report Mrs. Douglass was better.

Mrs. Dick Gibson called on Mrs. Katie Douglass last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Lulu DeShazer, who spent last week with her grandmother, Mrs. V. A. Douglass, went home Saturday evening, and this week her sister, Miss Viola DeShazer, is staying with Mrs. Douglass.

Misses Mable and Veroo Beckett came out from Portland Saturday, to make their mother, Mrs. A Beckett a visit, over Sunday. Miss Veroo returned to Portland Sunday evening, and Miss Mable remained at home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Woodle and son, Joey; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Woodle and son, Leslie, motored to Troutdale Sunday and with the Claude and Malcolm Woodle families had a family picnic.

James Bell, of Sandy, was a Grange visitor Saturday.

Walter Douglass accompanied by H. S. Gibson, Mrs. H. S. Jones, Alfred Jones, Misses Mildred and Florice Douglass, motored to Oregon City and Portland Sunday.

Crowds Enjoy Hizz Fun Makers

The oft repeated question, "How can a combination vaudeville and medical company afford to remain in a small town for weeks at a time?" is already being answered in Estacada. For, since their first performance on Monday evening, at Boner's Theatre, the Hizz Fun Makers have been entertaining capacity filled houses.

The company comprises seven men, all of whom are clever artists in all lines of entertainment, from singing, dancing, imitations, dialects, blackface and minstrelsy to ventriloquism.

As these artists are able to present a different, but equally entertaining show for sixty-five different performances, it can readily be understood, why and how the company can afford to make long stands in small towns.

As to the medical selling end of the performances, it in no ways interferes with the entertainment, consisting largely of lectures by Dr. Pardey, appealing directly to that hypochondriacal tendency which is present in all of us.

Clackamas Not Closed

An article appeared in the Evening Telegram of Tuesday, under the date line of Oregon City, stating that the Clackamas River was closed to all kinds of fishing.

The News at once phoned to State Game Warden, Carl Shoemaker, who said—"That news item was a mistake, for the river is only closed to commercial fishing and already dozens of sportsmen have phoned to ask me about it".
