CATTLE TO BE VACCINATED

Veterinarian From State Office To Work In This Community Monday And Tuesday

After considerable long distance telephoning, the News this week succeeded in getting in communication with Dr. C. M. Gardner of the Office of the State Veterinarian and has arranged for the early vaccination of cattle in this district, against the dreaded hemorrhagic septicemia, which is now taking a deadly toll among livestock in this state.

As Dr. Lytle, the State Veterinarian is away, one of his associates, either Dr. Gardner or Dr. Osborn will handle the vaccination in this district.

The News office now has a list of several hundred head of cattle, which the owners wish to have vaccinated and as the list comprises animals in all districts tributary to Estacada, arrangements are being made to systematize the work.

The veterinarian will arrive in Estacada Monday morning, August 20th, and will work that day on the east side of the river, spending Tuesday in Springwater, Dodge, Elwood and Viola. Mgr. Frank Ewing of the Agricultural Dept. of the P. R. L. & P. Co. will accompany the doctor.

As a plentiful supply of the vaccine has to be obtained from the O. A. C., the work here could not be administered before the days mentioned.

It has been suggested that in order to facilitate the work, that the animals be grouped in one, two or three places in each district, as for instance; in the Currinsville section, R. H. Currin has offered the use of his barn yard and pastures for the treatments, with the nearby cattle brought there early Monday.

In the case of distant points, the work will be done at the individual farms as far as possible or where convenient, the animals should be brought to some place along the main roads.

The News now has a list of animals from Eagle Creek, Upper Eagle Creek, Currinsville, Lower Garfield, Springwater, Dodge and Elwood and any others who may desire may benefit from this free service by notifying the News office at once, from which point a route will be laid out.

Popular Estacada Couple Married

Because she said "yes", instead of her regular sweet voiced "hello", Miss Elva Mae Adams, one of Estacada's most popular and beautiful girls, yesterday became the bride of Theodore Ahlberg of Estacada.

The wedding took place Wednesday forenoon, August 15th, at the home of the bride's uncle, P. H. Barth of 1041 Haslow Street, Portland, with only the immediate families and close friends of the couple in attendance.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hayes of the Presbyterian Sunday School Mission, the bride being attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Wilson of Portland, as flower girl.

The happy couple are now spending a few days honeymoon at one of the coast resorts and on their return to Estacada will make their home in the bungalow on the railway property across from the Hotel Estacada, the home having recently been redecorated and furnished.

The marriage of Ted and Elva, as they are called by their hosts of friends here, is the culmination of a home courtship, which for a time threatened to seriously disrupt the local telephone service, where Miss Elva was for several years in charge of the central office.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Adams of Estacada and is a graduate of the Estacada High School.

Mr. Ahlberg, or Ted, although originally from Oregon City, is an Estacadian by adoption, having for the past three or four years been in charge of the P. R. L. & P. Co.'s interests here, where he has been one of the most popular and hardworking of the younger business men.

The best of good wishes for a happy and prosperous future is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ahlberg by their many friends in this community.

Deer Season Closes Aug. 21

Governor Withycombe, after conferring with the State Game Warden and several timbermen, this week issued a proclamation closing the 1917 deer season from August 21st to September 1st, providing there is no general rainfall in the meantime.

"By closing the season on the 21st, opportunity will be given the hunters who have made preparations to go on hunting expeditions to have their hunt and others can make their plans accordingly", said the governor.

Declaring the fire hazard the greatest in 15 years, State Forester Elliott, asked the governor sometime ago to take this action. Especially is such a course necessary this year, to eliminate the waste in money for fire fighting and the loss of the timber and furthermore, labor for fire fighting is at a premium.

Union Services Next Sunday

There will be all day Union Services next Sunday, August 19th, at the Estacada M. E. Church, with the Garfield, Mt. Zion, Currinsville and Estacada churches participating.

The speakers will be Gordon J. Taylor, publisher of the Molalla Pioneer, who was formerly in the ministry and later an attraction on the lecture platform and Dr. T. B. Ford of Salem, who is too well known in this community to need further introduction.

Good music will be a feature of the services. All are invited to spend the day, bringing their lunches and enjoying them in the cool church basement, where hot coffee will be served.

Services will be held at 11 o'clock in both the Christian and M. E. Churches, with the balance of the day spent in the union services at the latter church.

Rev. Spiess wishes to call a meeting of all committees on Sunday afternoon, August 19th for the arrangement of the Patriotic Union Services to be held the first Sunday in September in the grove of the Mt. Zion Church in Garfield.

Second Call For 56 More Men

Because of the high percentage of failures in the physical examinations before the county draft board, a second call was issued Saturday for 56 more eligible men to appear at 8:30 o'clock, August 16th.

Among the men from this section of the county included in this call are C. C. Cockerline, Estacada; Stanford Cox, Elwood; G. R. Hallman, Boring; William Odell, Bull Run; V. Vidolin, Boring; F. A. Wentzel, Sandy; J. L. McKenzie, Estacada; H. C. Reid, Estacada; L. N. Vallen, Elwood; G. Stucki, Eagle Creek; G. A. Odell, Cherryville and A. Biedenstein, Cherryville.

At last reports over forty men have been accepted by the Clackamas County Board whose exemption claims were not allowed, although all still have the right of appeal. Among the number are the following from Eastern Clackamas County: E. W. Johnson, Cherryville; W. E. Test, Eagle Creek; Roy Funk, Boring; E. Hoffman, Sandy; F. Linhart, Sandy; Ernest Douglass, Barton and R. Beil, Boring.

Barton Man Weds

The announcement is made in the Merced (Calif.) Sun of Aug. 8, of the marriage of A. J. Brown of Barton, Oregon, and Mrs. Virginia M. Ladouceur, of Merced, on August 8th.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPT. 17

New Building To Be Completed On Time—U. of O. Man To Coach Athletes

By the time the students, who during the coming term will be in the Estacada High School, have inspected their new quarters, the date of September 17th, when the Estacada Schools will open, will be one to look ahead to.

For this purpose and to get the young folks together, the students and alumni of the Estacada High School will hold a mid-summer picnic Saturday evening, August 18th. The committee plans to assemble all at the new high school building in a viewing party, after which light refreshments will be served at the home of Principal and Mrs. T. E. Wilson. All students and alumni are urged to be present.

The new building is now well towards completion, the exterior being finished and the interior being at the plastering stage. Contractor Snook and his associates are to be congratulated on the fine work done and the plans and specifications prepared by Architect Burggraf are proving even more attractive in reality, than on paper. Much of the labor and much of the special work has been done by local men, with C. C. Miller and Owen Smith having installed the electric wiring and J. R. Hughes having done the painting.

All taxpayers and friends should not miss an opportunity to inspect this building, for the healthful environment and educational facilities offered their children now in the Estacada Schools should be a source of much satisfaction.

The key-notes of the new structure are large rooms, plenty of light and good ventilation. There will be an abundance of black-board space, with the new hyloplate boards being installed. Roomy cloak rooms, with private lockers are included for boys and girls, with the best of sanitary plumbing fixtures in the toilets and shower baths.

The main auditorium is one of the attractive features, with a seating capacity of over 500, with ample stage room and good ventilation. Ninety new desks and seats are ordered for this room, besides sixty-six new tablet-arm-chairs, which with the furniture now in the present school house, will be sufficient. Among the new furniture ordered is a roll-top desk for the principal's office and four teachers' desks.

The laboratories on the ground floor are large and light and will be well equipped with the most modern of apparatus for chemistry, physics, domestic science
