Estacada School's Advertising Attracting Many New Students

Principal T. E. Wilson of the Estacada Schools believes that if you have a commodity to sell—good salesmanship, faith in the commodity and live advertising, will sell it.

Mr. Wilson acts as salesman himself and having the utmost faith in the educational advantages offered now by the modern Estacada Schools, uses such arguments as the following in his advertising:—

"A man is paid $1. a day from his chin down. The rest that he is paid, he earns from his chin up."

"It is a known fact that men are paid more in proportion for what they know than for what they do, and for every $10. that is paid a high priced man, he gets $9 for what he knows and $1. for what he does."

"Would you rather have the small expense of a high school education in your pocket, than to have the money-making, brain-capital it will put into your head."

"The best time to make a beginning is now. The 'do-it-nows' are always ahead of the 'after-a-whiles'. Don't wait — enroll in the high school now."

Mr. Wilson's arguments are not based on high sounding theories or ethical foundations, but deal with plain every day facts; for instance he uses the following statistics:— The earnings of the average trained man, being a man who has had a high school education or its equivalent, at the ages of 30, 40 and 50 years are $1800., $3500. and $5,000. per year respectively, as compared with earnings of $700., $800. and $500. for the untrained man the same ages.

As a result of his work, together with the attraction of the new Estacada High School building, a banner enrollment is promised for the 1917-18 season, with numbers of students from all nearby sections, including many new pupils and younger brothers and sisters of present and former students.

Several families from outlying districts are planning to reside in Estacada this year to facilitate their children's schooling. There are also opportunities for boys and girls to find homes with Estacada families, in exchange for their labor for a few hours each week. Principal Wilson will answer inquiries relative to the latter, as he already has openings for three boys and can arrange for girls to do light housekeeping.

It has been proposed that the schools furnish the entertainment, with good speakers, athletic games and possibly a special moving picture show in the new high school building that evening. It is also likely that day will be made the final wind-up of a whirlwind campaign to register students in the high school.

Members of the Industrial Club and Pig Club will meet at the office in the school building Saturday evening, Sept. 1st at 8 o'clock to arrange for their exhibits at the fair.

PREMIUM LISTS BEING MAILED

East Clackamas County Fair To Occur At Estacada Sept. 12, 13, 14

The one thousand premium lists for the 1918 East Clackamas County Fair are this week being distributed, with copies mailed to all families in this community.

If you have not received a copy, notify any one of the officers or directors of the association or call at the News office.

The premium list this year contains good views of the new Estacada High School and the Grammar School buildings. On the first page is shown the following officers and directors: H. C. Stephens of George, President; A. W. Botkin of Garfield, Vice President; Frank Ewing of Viola, Secretary; W. A. Bard of Springwater, J. W. Cahill of Eagle Creek, C. R. Lovell of Currinsville and Walter Givens of Estacada, directors.

The booklet contains a "Greetings for 1917", "Program of Special Events", "Special Features", "Information and Rules", "Judges", besides about twenty pages given up to the individual classes, including exhibits in Livestock, Agriculture, Women's, Poultry and Juvenile Departments.

The 1917 fair will take place in Estacada on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 12th, 13th and 14th in the play-shed of the Estacada Schools, with the amusements occurring on the athletic field adjoining.

No community exhibits will be held this year, as the directors feel that better results will come from prizes awarded individual exhibitors.

The usual Dairy Cow Contest has been withdrawn this year, but special emphasis will be placed upon the exhibits of the juveniles, especially those of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, including hogs, potatoes, canning and domestic science.

This premium list contains the advertisements of the leading local business men and but for their liberal support, the expense of printing these lists could not have been afforded.

Every resident of this community is urged to read carefully this premium list and to select certain exhibits which they will individually make and to proceed at once to have those exhibits ready for the opening day.

The success of this year's fair is more than ever dependent upon the individuals and it is your duty as a public spirited citizen to help make this a better fair than its predecessors and you can do it by personally exhibiting your products and your handiwork.
