Estacada To Be A "Tie-Town"

With the present demand for all kinds of lumber, Estacada is fast becoming a shipping center for the products of the various mills adjacent, with heavily loaded auto trucks bringing sawed ties and dimension lumber both day and night to the loading docks here.

According to the report of a party of the P. R. L. & P. Co. officials, who Monday were in Estacada arranging for more shipping and loading facilities, this city will soon justly be nicknamed "Tie-Town", for many hundreds of thousands of sawed ties will not only be shipped from here this winter, but will be stored here.

With the officials was J. Canby Morgan of Portland, who owns a large tract of timber on Clear Creek in the vicinity of the old Bittner Mill. Mr. Morgan has now completed arrangements with the Cox & Park Shingle Company near his property, to install proper machinery for cutting ties and expects that mill to keep a steady stream of ties coming into Estacada for shipment. These ties will be loaded from the spur track leading to the old wood factory, or may be handled on the cannery spur in Terrace Addition.

Engineer Thomas Pumphrey of the railway company states that his company is planning to pile and store for future use over 100,000 ties on the right-of-way property between the Estacada Park and Hotel property, extending from the Springwater road to the depot.

Such activity in the lumber business cannot help but bring prosperity to this city and adjacent country, for the tie cutting demands much labor and the stand of timber in this section is one of the most extensive in the Northwest.

Red Cross Dance Nets $80

The Priscilla Club of Currinsville is to be complimented on the successful dance given by them last Saturday evening at Cogswell's Hall in Eagle Creek, when over $130 was taken in, leaving a net surplus of over $80, which sum will go towards the Red Cross campaign.

While probably the large attendance was somewhat due to the worthy cause represented, the promised home-made tamale supper, which materialized even beyond expectations, drew many a dancer, from all portions of this community, with many the e from Sandy, Boring, Gresham and other distant points.

Two more dances remain for this month, the first occurring Thanksgiving Eve at Cogswell's Hall and the second being a Hard-times dance staged by the ladies of the C. I. C. in the Estacada Pavilion on Thanksgiving night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kenny of Estacada came near meeting with an auto accident last week, when in attempting to crank their car on the Gibson Hill, the machine started backward down grade. Mrs. Kenny jumped out and Mr. Kenny jumped in, and with the aid of the emergency brake and a fir stump brought the car to a standstill a few rods below.

Fred Lins of George, this week proudly displayed a check for $322.85 being in payment of 120 sacks of Garnet potatoes sold. This is the first big sale to come to our attention, although several of Mr. Lin's neighbors have sold from 20 to 100 sacks each.
