Epidemic Among Local Horses Again

The annual sickness and deaths among the horses of this community is again in evidence, with reports received of the death of several horses in Garfield this week and the illness of many others.

Apparently the disease is the same as in former years, taking on the aspects of staggers or so-called "fern staggers", with a few new symptoms, possibly due to the abnormal condition of the hay now being fed to the animals.

Nearly every mow is this season filled with hay which developed under extreme drought conditions, being cut and stored when unusually dry. Since the rains, this hay has in many instances become musty and very dusty and taken on a light greenish color. It is more than possible this recurrence of the staggers in an aggravated form this year is directly due to this abnormal feed.

The 51st annual edition of the Oregon City Enterprise was received in this community last Saturday, copies having been sent into all parts of the county. This issue is a handsome one and its supplement devoted to Estacada and surrounding country reminds us of the days of the old real estate booklets, with Estacada's population considerably inflated and lots of compliments heaped upon our industries, town merchants, schools, farms and even the newspaper.

Ken Bartlett of Estacada, who is a member of the crack Camp Lewis football team is now at Pasadena, where with his team mates he will tackle the fast Mare Island eleven on New Years Day. For the past two years Ken has made this southern trip, playing on the winning U. of O. team.

Officers Installed

On Friday evening, Lodge No. 146 A. F. and A. M. and Mountain Chapter No. 108 Order of the Eastern Star of Estacada held a joint installation of officers. Following the installation a delectable banquet was served at Hotel Estacada by ladies of the C. I. C.

With Toast-master Laurry in command an interesting program of impromptu speeches and music was called forth.

The following are the officers of Mountain Chapter for the ensuing year —
