Veteran Donates Two Subscriptions

J. O'Neel, of Eagle Creek, a Civil War veteran, called at the News office Saturday and handed over $2.00, asking that it be used in sending the home paper to any of the local enlisted boys, for he said, "I know how lonesome a soldier boy gets and how he enjoys reading about home and the home people."

We have accordingly entered year subscriptions to go to Wm. Still and Frank Fuchs of Eagle Creek, the former being stationed at Waco, Texas and the latter at San Diego.

That the soldier boys appreciate the home newspaper is amply evidenced in the letters received by the News each week from lonesome, local lads in distant places.

Warren Barr of Estacada, now of Co. A., 5th Battalion, 20th Engineers at Camp Belvoir, Virginia, in a letter dated the 6th, says, "Hope to get the News regularly, for its more appreciated than the Oregonian would be the morning after the first World's Series Game; I read it over twice, even to the want-ads and then hustled over to Fred Bannister and he stopped cooking to read it."

There are still many of our soldier boys who are not receiving the News and parents or others interested, will be allowed the $1.00 per year price, for subscriptions sent to enlisted men.

Mrs. Eda Woods of Estacada, who for the past two years has been saleslady at the East Clackamas Supply Company, left last week for Oregon City where she is employed in the woolen mills.

Mrs. Clyde Ecker of Independence spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Cary, of Cazadero.

At the Family Theatre

On Saturday evening, January 19th, the five reel feature "The Girl With the Checkered Coat" will be shown, followed by a good comedy.

On Thursday evening, January 24th, Miss Mae Murray will be seen in "To Have And to Hold".

Hereafter no Saturday afternoon performances will be given, as the attendance does not warrant the added expense.
