Everett Shibley returned Saturday from Corvallis, where he has been attending the Winter Short Course.

A Correction

The News was incorrectly informed last week relative to the appointment of A. E. Sparks of Estacada as secretary and sales manager of the Estacada Cooperative Cheese Association, as the title should have read assistant secretary and sales manager, with G. E. Lawrence of Springwater still acting as official secretary.

New Butcher To Befriend Anglers

J. C. Hillman, Estacada's latest recruit among the business men, on learning that the fishermen in this community are always up against an obstacle in obtaining fresh salmon eggs, when needed for bait, announces that he will on certain days of the week, carry a supply in stock.

On Friday next, February 8th, Mr. Hillman will have a dozen rolls as a starter - so any fisherman who wants bait on that day should call at the Palace Market early or phone in his reservation. At any time if a couple of days notice is given him, Mr. Hillman will furnish the fresh eggs for any of the angling enthusiasts.

Mrs. Frank Ewing of Viola, after a two months visit among relatives in California, returned home this week.

E. C. Peery of the Estacada Pharmacy has returned to his home at Scio for a few days business trip, A. N. Johnson assisting in his stead at the pharmacy.

R. G. Marchbank of Estacada has been on the sick list for the past week, being confined to his home with a return of his asthma trouble.
