LAND OF PEACE AND PLENTY

We Should do all Possible to to Preserve this Immunity
Secure for all Time

Sunday afternoon the editor and his wife were accorded a great pleasure by their friends Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holder, who took them out in their car to see the surrounding country. First however they were taken to the Holder home, where tomatoes are raised on a commercial scale. The vines instead of being allowed to run right along the ground, are staked up so that the fruit gets the full benefit of the sun, which insures their rapid ripening and preserves them from the black rot.

But those in the greenhouse are the most remarkable as they stand up higher than a tall man's head. The impression is given the visitor of being in a grove of tomatoes. An interesting fact about these vines raised under cover, is that they have to be pollinated by hand with a brush, as protected from the wind and bees, the pollen is not otherwise transferred from the male to the female flower.

Not much space is devoted to flowers, but in front of the house there is a display which forms a kaleidoscope of colors, chief among which are the flaming scarlet plumes of a bed of Savvia Splendens, standing three feet high.

After viewing the home place, they were taken out towards George and through Garfield to the Crawford ranch, with its prune orchard and dryer.

It should serve as an inspiration to an artist to see the rows of vigorous trees, with their branch-

To the Young Women of Oregon

Just before I left Washington a few days ago I was asked by certain departments and bureaus to place before the young women of this and neighboring states, the urgent need for women in certain branches of Government work.

The head of the Army Nursing School told me that the demand for nurses is much greater than can be supplied. Young women who have completed the three months preliminary nursing courses are wanted at once at the Cantonment hospitals. After receiving further training at these hospitals they may serve as trained nurses either in this country or abroad.

The need for young women as clerks and secretaries in the Civil Service is acute. In accordance with a direct request from the Commissioner of Civil Service the University is giving the full secretarial courses.

The University is working in full co-operation with the Committee of the American Council on Education on the correlation of women's work in the colleges with war needs.

If you have not already received a copy of two illustrated bulletins, "Oregon for Women" and "At Oregon, a Story of Opportunity" please write and they will be sent at once, as also will the University Catalog.

Change of Time October 1st

Before another issue of the News appears, the time will have been changed. On October 1st at one a. m. all clocks are to be turned back one hour. It will be more convenient to do this on retiring on Monday night.

So do not forget to do this and you will gain an extra hour in bed the following morning.

This scheme for daylight saving during the summer months, has worked very satisfactorily. It has got the lazy man up at an earlier and more suitable hour, without his knowing it, and enabled workers to have an extra hour of daylight to spend at home, or to go for a ride after business hours.

Presentation to Pastor and His Wife

At the close of the service on Sunday morning, at the M. E. Church Mrs. Reagan on behalf of the congregation presented a check representing a gratifying sum, to the Rev. H. Spiess as a token of their appreciation of his services. At the same time Mrs. Pym presented to Mrs. Spiess a handsome sword fern in a beautiful jardiniere, to which Mrs. Spiess feelingly responded.

Bro. Spiess and his estimable wife leave here accompanied by with the best and most cordial wishes from all for their future.

It is satisfactory to learn that the year closes with all obligations paid up.

Nursing Examination Last Monday Evening

Twenty members of the First Aid class in nursing, took examination last Monday evening, at the residence of Dr. Adix.

This was given by the American Red Cross. With this examination the course of instruction concludes.

The members of the class wish to express their sincerest thanks to Dr. Adix for his patience and kindness in explaining to them all about bandages, compresses and the like, also to Mrs. Adix for her gracious hospitality and the use of her home for these meetings.

Expert Workmanship

S. P. Pesznecker, of the Cascade Garage is a man equal to any emergency in his line. Last week a bull wheel from a donkey engine belonging to the Dwyer logging camp, was brought in for repairing. The wheel was three feet in diameter and broken in three places. Mr. Pesznecker welded the broken parts together with oxygen-acetylene gas, and turned out the wheel as good as new. Estacada is fortunate in having a mechanic of Mr. Pesznecker's ability, so our car owners need not go to Portland when their machines are out of commission.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN RALLY

Hon. George C. Brownell of Portland was the Speaker of the Evening

OVER $3,000 SUBSCRIBED

Tellers Mrs. E. W. Bartlett
and Mr. A. E. Sparks
Were Kept Busy

The big rally on behalf the Fourth Liberty Loan Saturday night, was attended by an enthusiastic audience in the auditorium of the High School.

It began with a procession of the mothers, wives and sisters of the soldiers, who marched in with banners flying. Mayor Bartlett presided with his accustomed dignified ability and after a short musical program of patriotic songs had been rendered, opened the meeting and introduced the speaker of the evening, the Hon. George C. Brownell of Portland.

Mr. Brownell speech was a masterly exposition of the basic principles of carrying on the war, as shown by the German method and that of the American. Germany had conducted it on a basis of hatred manifested by brutality and ferocity, in the rape of Belgium; in her treatment of the inhabitants of conquered territory; in her inhumanity towards the prisoners and wounded who had fallen into her hands; in her bombing of hospitals and the ruthless submarining of merchant vessels and hospital ships.

On the other hand Americans manifested love, in their extending relief to the Belgians and allies; in their treatment of the wounded both friend and foe receiving the same tender care. America was not in the war to enrich herself but to benefit humanity: he closed with a powerful plea for a liberal response to the call for liberty bonds.
