THE EASTERN CLACKAMAS NEWS

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF EASTERN CLACKAMAS

Estacada, Ore., Oct. 31st, 1918

To the Readers of the NEWS:

The Scientific American has this to say in regard to advertising:

"Apparently many of our own merchants have overlooked the real significance of publicity. A man who does not give the matter serious attention is liable to think of advertising only as a means of selling goods. He does not realize that his advertisement is not merely purchasing a customer, but it is also purchasing an intangible something which goes by the name of 'good will.' Advertisements build him a reputation, and the only way to keep this reputation alive is to persist in advertising, even when there is no immediate market for his products. Good will is like a tender plant that must be watered and cared for even when it is not flowering. If neglected too long it may never flourish again."

Yours truly,
The Editor.
