Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness during our recent bereavement, and also for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mrs. H. Rivers and family.

P. E. Linn on four acres has gathered twelve tons of prunes. They graded 76 but if the season had been more favorable for ripening, they would have graded at 50 to the pound.

Thanksgiving for Victory

O Almighty God, the Sovereign Commander of all the world, in whose hand is power and might, which none is able to withstand; We bless and magnify thy great and glorious Name for this happy Victory, the whole glory whereof we do ascribe unto Thee, Who art the only giver of victory. And, we beseech Thee, give us grace to improve this great mercy to thy glory, the advancement of thy Gospel, the honour of our country, and as much as in us lieth, to the good of all mankind. And, we beseech Thee, give us such a sense of this great mercy, as may engage us to a true thankfulness, such as may appear in our lives by an humble, holy, and obedient walking before Thee all our days; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with Thee and the Holy Spirit, as for all thy mercies, so in particular for this Victory and deliverance, be all glory and honour, world without end. Amen.

Kenneth Bartlett has a Thrill

From the Telegram of last Friday we clip the following, about Kenneth Bartlett son of Mayor and Mrs. E. W. Bartlett.

"Bartlett's home is in Estacada. He, too, had his thrill not far from the apple tree where a certain mess-kit was abandoned. Boche aviators were bombing the place, trying to get the engineers who were working like beavers repairing the road so the artillery could move up; Bartlett was on the road at the time and heard the sound of the motors overhead. He looked up, noted the iron cross painted on the wings and at the same instant saw a bombstart falling from the plane. At first it looked about the size of a football, but in an instant it seemed to be as large as one of the O. W. R. R. & N. locomotives. 'If that bird had held on to that egg two seconds longer, he would have gotten me,' stated Bartlett, 'for he was coming right in my direction and flew over my head. I looked up when I heard the motor, thinking as a fellow would, that they were our planes; I saw the iron crosses, then a couple of flashes and something black started to fall. Then I heard a guy yell "Germans" and I beat it.'"

Funeral of Lester Rivers

The body of Lester Rivers who died at Fort Stevens, Wash., was shipped to his home at Eagle Creek, and the funeral took place there on Sunday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rivers of Eagle Creek and twenty-five years old at the time of his death which resulted from the Spanish influenza. The services were held in the Eagle Creek Church, a minister from Gresham conducting them. The church was banked with floral offerings and the casket draped with a large flag. The internment was in Forester cemetery where the mortal remains of this soldier will rest until the sounding of the reveille on the day of the Great Awakening. He leaves a widow and baby, besides a father, mother and a brother. The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of his country.

Undertaker L. A. Chapman had charge of all arrangements which he carried out in his usual sympathetic and efficient manner.

Notice to Stockholders.

The meeting of stockholders of the Cooperative Cheese Association of Garfield, which was called originally for November 9th, and postponed on account of the influenza, will now take place at the cheese factory at 2 p. m., on Saturday November 30th.

LITTLE THOMPSON BOY OF LOGAN DISAPPEARS

Estacadans Joined in Search
Last Sunday for the Missing Boy

THE HUNT STILL CONTINUES

Officials are of Opinion that a Passing Autoist Picked
the Little Fellow up

About twenty-five men from this place, joined in the hunt last Sunday in the Logan woods, for the little 5 year old Thompson boy who disappeared the 13th.

He was assisting an older brother in driving some cattle and became tired and the elder brother told him to wait on the road for his mother, who was to pass there in a short time, with a load of furniture. When the mother and an older son arrived at their destination and missed the youngster they asked the other son about him and he said they should have met him on the road. Becoming alarmed the older boy immediately mounted one of the horses and went back to the place where the boy was left. He hunted all around and called to him but with no result.

An autoist from Portland who drove his machine over the road said that he saw the lad sitting by the roadside as he drove by. Since that time no trace has been discovered and the officials are at a loss to explain the case. The only plausible theory that has been advanced is that the child has been picked up by some passing traveler who has not heard of the search for the child. Some think that the boy has walked to the river and accidentally drowned, officials claim that the distance to the river from where the child was left in the road, is over a mile and a half, and even if the lad had gone in that direction he would have met his mother, who was driving a team, before he could have reached the river, for in order to get to the river the lad would have to follow the road at that point.
