I fear that this has been too long a letter, but as it is my first offence, I trust that you will pardon its length, and take its contents as they are truly meant, which is sincere appreciation of the home newspaper for the past year and a half.

Hoping soon to sight the Statue of Liberty and later the M. E. church tower on my return to old Estacada, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Sgt. Chester F. Womer.

Captain William H. Heylman, son of Postmaster and Mrs. W. A. Heylman, of this city, is commander of the 309th Motor Transport Corps in France. On December 15 he and his unit were at Dijon, but his parents think, from what he has written, that they have been sent with the advance Army base into Germany, as a part of the Third Army. Captain Heylman is in the regulars, having enlisted five years ago.

When the United States called for men to battle against the Huns, one of the first to respond was John E. H. Simpson, Jr., son of the Rev. John E. H. Simpson. At once an opportunity was presented for the young man to enter a naval training station to qualify for a commission.

"No," the lad replied, "I'll enlist as a common sailor, work hard and either earn a commission or make a mighty good common sailor."

Young Mr. Simpson is already at the very top of the non-commissioned sailor's rank, being warrant officer, assigned to the U. S. S. Mercurius, now bound for Constantinople. He has crossed the ocean on two round trips on the tanker Sudbury, and writes that it is pleasant to be afloat now that there is no need to dodge U-boats. He has completed a course at Pelham Bay Training Station and has just finished his work at Stevens Institute, preparatory to receiving an Ensign's commission. Young Mr. Simpson was within a few months of graduation at the Ore-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F.
