DR. ADIX TAKES PARTNER REMOVES TO GRESHAM

For a week or two rumors of the removal of Dr. Adix, which are now confirmed, have been flying around as thickly as the leaves in Vallombrosa. He has taken into partnership, Dr. R. Graham McCall who will reside here, while Dr. Adix will remove to Gresham where he has already established an office. His many friends and patients will be partly consoled because this does not imply complete severance of relations for he will continue to spend part of his time here. Mrs. McCall has already arrived and is staying with Dr. and Mrs. Adix, whose residence she and her husband will occupy.

Estacada will seem strange without the familiar figure of Dr. Adix on its streets, and no one unless it is his wife, will be missed. He came here eleven years ago and since then has been prominent in the town affairs and its development. Dr. Adix has been a booster for Estacada not only in words but in deeds, having invested in its industries and helped establish them. Besides being the possessor of considerable real estate in the vicinity, he built the Cascade Garage and is a stockholder in the Telephone Co. and the Eastern Clackamas Supply Co. As a physician and surgeon he has few his equal in this part of the west, and is frequently called in consultation to Portland. He is both an osteopathic physician as well as an M. D., graduating first from the Dr. S. S. Still College of Osteopathy at Des Moines, Ia., in June 1902 and then later at the Medical School of the University of Oregon, April 29th, 1907.

Mrs. Adix to whom he was married fifteen years ago, is a most charming woman and an ideal helpmate for a doctor. The role of a doctor's wife is as delicate and difficult as that of a minister's wife. She is known for kindness of heart and un-

A Poultry Enthusiast

Phil Marquam of the Oregon Poultry Farm, whose ad appears in this issue, called at the NEWS office Monday morning. Mr. Marquam moved last October from the George district nearer town, living now on the road to Garfield. He is not only an expert on poultry, but is an enthusiast as well, whose chief aim in life is to develop and boost the industry. He gave us some very interesting details about his methods. He makes the raising of breeding fowls his specialty, and the single comb white Leghorns of the "Barron strain" his particular breed. The whole work is built upon the foundation of trapnesting. By this means he keeps tab on every fowl and egg. He knows the pedigree of every bird on both sides of its lineage, male and female. Strict and accurate records are kept. No hens under 200 eggs records are allowed in his breeding pens. Breeding males have records of 250 eggs back of them in male and female line for 5 generations back.

This involves a great deal of work and close supervision. He keeps himself continually posted on all new developments in the business, as he says he cannot afford to slip back. It was a pleasure to listen to one so well informed and so enthusiastic in his line.

We have requested him to furnish us data occasionally for the benefit of our readers who are interested in poultry keeping. We are certain what he will furnish will be of practical value as Mr. Marquam is no theorist, but one who puts everything to a rigid test before final adoption.

Grange Meeting

The regular meeting of the Eagle Creek Grange will be held March 15th. We will have with us County Agent, R. G. Scott, also Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Marie Anthony. There will be an open meeting in the afternoon to which all are invited.

R. W. Alspaugh, Master.

Record of Special School Meeting, February 27th

Meeting as advertised called to order by Chairman Dr. Adix in room I of the High School, the purpose being to have the report of the committee appointed to examine the records of the district.

Minutes of the special meeting of Nov. 20th read and approved.

Report of the committee then called for and Chairman Heylman responded stating that the committee had not completed its work.

Mr. Moody the accountant was then asked to read his report which was referred to the Clerk for reading.

After some discussion and reading passages from the school law, Mr. Heylman asked for more time.

Moved by Bartlett and seconded by Reed that Mr. Moody's report be accepted and filed with the clerk of the district, carried.

Moved and seconded that the committee be allowed three weeks in which to complete its report, carried.

Moved and seconded to adjourn, carried.

M. B. Signs, Clerk, Pro Tem.

Mrs. E. W. Bartlett, Chairman,
Estacada, Oregon.

Dear Madam:

Please find enclosed receipt for the $57.75 you mailed in the United War Work Campaign drive.

I only wish all of the districts in the county could have followed your work. It has been a pleasure to know that your district was behind this drive from start to finish. I want to thank you as Chairman, and the good people of Estacada for backing us up as you did in the United War Work.

Yours very truly,

A. C. Howland,

Clackamas County Chairman.

The above remittance was the final one of $724.50, the quota for this district being $690.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY LAST FRIDAY NIGHT A SUCCESS

The Junior class of the High School came into its own last Friday night and covered themselves with glory. That the annual play given by this class, is a popular feature was evidenced by the crowded audience which turned out to see it. The main auditorium of the High School was filled to overflowing, so that the class rooms at the rear were brought into requisition to accommodate the throng. For three or four blocks on Main street, north of Fifth street, cars were strung along, which with their red rear lights, suggested the appearance of railroad yards at night.

The following was the program presented on this occasion.

1. Two reel film comedy, "Social Pirates."
2. "The Fascinating Fanny Brown," a comedy in two acts.
3. Between the acts — The High School Chorus.
4. "Her One Mistake," a five reel drama.

The main interest of course centred around the second number, the class play. Those taking parts were Misses Loretta Smith, Esther Anderson, Minerva Page, Irene Saling, Lydia Matson, Golda Elliott and Messrs. Ray Dril, Elmer Hannah and Albert Lichthorn.

The stage was very attractively arranged, representing the living room of a summer hotel. The members of the cast carried their parts most creditably and did not falter in their lines. The girls were very becomingly gowned and looking most graceful and charming, it would be invidious to single out any for especial mention. In fact it would be very temerarious so to do, and we recall the fate of Paris in the classic legend, as well that of an umpire in a baseball or football game, so we refrain. We believe in "safety first."

We were pleased to notice that the boys rivalled the girls in act-
