The Easter Message

What is the attraction of Easter which causes it to be celebrated with enthusiasm, in spite of growing religious indifference? It lies in its message which gives assurance of three vital needs in human life, to draw out its best efforts for self development and make it worth while, in spite of all the ills and misfortunes it may encounter in its present existence.

(3) That there are forgiveness and remission of sins.

Unless the first be true, it is folly to fight evil, especially when this involves self sacrifice and even risk of death. Unless the second be true, materialism will be rampant, with "the will to power" as its guiding principle, which takes into consideration only pre-

Unless the third be true, unending life would be a curse instead of a blessing, because we should be continually hampered by the mistakes, failures and humiliations of the past, and never attain that perfection and completeness without which eternal life would be unendurable. While it is true that the mass of people are oblivious of these requirements, yet they are unconsciously profoundly influenced by them nevertheless, for their standards and perceptions as far as they go, derive force and validity from them, as well as the obligation to strive after righteousness which they recognize and acknowledge.

The interscholastic base ball season opened auspiciously for Estacada, Gresham being defeated 2 to 0 last Friday. The score indicates a real game in spite of the handicap of a poor field.

Arrangements for commencement have proceeded so far as to secure Robt. Fry Clark, President of Pacific University at Forest Grove for the Baccalaureate Sunday, May 25th, and Col. John Leader for the commencement address, Thursday evening, May 29th.

Word has been received from Supt. Churchill that one unit of credit toward graduation may be allowed for each twelve months service in army or navy, at home or abroad.
