CHAPTER VIII

"THE MOUNTAIN KING"

The Mountain King mine develops as an immensely valuable property.

Helen and Murphy by trailing Pitts discovers traces of "The Lost Express." Detective Murphy is convinced that the missing train is camouflaged by the skilful foreign gang.

General Thurston urges Murphy to locate the missing train at any expense, and Helen determines to go with the railway detective on the trail.

Young Bonner, the clerk, who is devoted to Helen, handicaps the search by following her, being jealous of Murphy's attention.
